A message from the Governor, by Robert Oglesby, private secretary:

Mr. Speaker: I am directed by the Governor to lay before the House of Representatives the following communication:

STATE OF ILLINOIS, EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT,
SPRINGFIELD, ILL., Jan. 10, 1889.

To the Honorable, The House of Representatives:

I have the honor to transmit herewith the biennial message of the Governor to the General Assembly.

R. J. OGLESBY, Governor.

BIENNIAL MESSAGE OF THE GOVERNOR.

STATE OF ILLINOIS,

EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT, January, 1889.

To the General Assembly:

Your respective bodies meet at the close of a great national election, when the excitement usually attending such a contest has subsided; the period is a favorable one for a calm consideration of questions affecting the general welfare of the State. Peace and good order and a general observance of the law have characterized the period since your last adjournment. The judiciary, by a firm and impartial exercise of the powers of that department of the government, has inspired a general respect for the law, and by such impartial course has earned and enjoys the confidence of the people.

The civil powers of the State have been adequate to a complete execution of the law. Occasional violations of the public peace, here and there, have not led to serious consequences anywhere, and there has not been, fortunately, occasion for resort to its military powers. I am satisfied that the enactments of the last Legislature for the preservation of the peace and protection to property, and for the suppression of crime, have had a most wholesome effect, and have contributed to that good order which has prevailed throughout the State. It can not be said at any time the laws of the people are perfect, or that their institutions are so firmly fixed as to be beyond question; on the contrary, it is the province of the Legislature, under the constitution, to inquire into the state of the law and the workings of our institutions, to ascertain whether either may not be beneficially changed by amendment or repeal.

REVENUE.

I again invite your attention to the question of revenue, and to the state of the law upon that subject. It is perhaps the most interesting and important subject for consideration that can engage your attention. The State ought not to borrow. There is no method by which it can secure the necessary means of administration and support other than by levying a tax by valuation upon all the property in the State. If all the property in the State shall bear this necessary and indispensable burden, ought not the law to make provision that this burden be distributed fairly and certainly upon all the property in the State? Can it be assumed—does any one believe the present law upon the subject does so? It is within the knowledge of every reflecting citizen that our revenue laws are not satisfactory, and that such as they are they are not put into execution with any consistency, uniformity or proper regard to the vast interests affected by them. It is well understood that large amounts of taxable property escape taxation every year, and that taxes collected on property made to bear the burden of supporting the government are most inadequately and unfairly laid upon such property. Ought the law to indulge any such unjust and discriminating practice? A brief examination of the reports of the Auditor of Public Accounts will show for a series of years the most unfair, unjust and partial assessments by local assessors. No heed is paid by such assessors to the revenue law. They assess lands and lots with some pretense of fairness, but it is a well known fact that personal property does not bear its fair or just proportion of taxation. No effort is made by assessors to discover property beyond these visible resources of taxation. Such property as comes under their notice is assessed at such values as suits their notion of what is about right; or as persuasion, inducement and favoritism may lead them to adopt. Local competition between different counties encourages them, year after year, to fix lower and still lower values, until the reports show the amount of taxable property in the State is annually diminishing; that Illinois, as to taxable wealth, is growing poorer and poorer, and will soon rank in this respect as one amongst the poorest States in the Union. I submit that a system which encourages such practice ought without further delay to be repealed, or made to conform to the constitutional requirement that all property in the State shall be made to bear its proportionate share of taxation.

I submit a comparative statement of assessment of property for the four years from 1885 to 1888 inclusive, from the Auditor's reports for those years, to show that the policy of lower assessments still continues without any regard to the fact that the taxable wealth of the State steadily increases. It will be observed that the Board of Equalization has for these years gradually but quite moderately increased the assessments of railroad property. There is no ground for the assumption that while railroad property may have increased in value, other property in the State has not, for the years named.

Comparative Statement of Assessment of Property for the years 1885, 1886, 1887 and 1888, rates of tax, etc.

Year.	Personal property (including cap. stock asses'd by State Board).	Lands.	Town and city lots.	Total.	Railroad property assessed by State Board.	Total assessment of State.	Rate of State Tax.
1885.....	$157,871,722	$380,807,649	$198,646,203	$737,325,574	$60,687,317	$798,312,891	$0 42
1886.....	152,715,944	372,325,060	204,893,705	729,934,709	62,972,101	792,906,810	35
1887.....	153,594,229	365,759,252	211,015,063	730,368,544	66,517,478	796,886,022	53
1888.....	146,925,108	353,270,396	214,198,233	714,393,737	68,620,719	783,013,456	44

Unless some policy shall be adopted to arrest what now seems to be the settled purpose of the local assessors to continually reduce valuations, it must be plain to any reflecting mind that sooner or later the whole revenue system will be shipwrecked. Can it be wise for the legislative department of the state government, with the facts before us, to longer delay an earnest effort to stay such a course? In my opinion, just so long as needful revenue shall be raised by levying a tax by valuation upon all the property, both for state and local purposes, by local assessors, just so long will the present system continue.

It does not seem to me any serious risk can be incurred by an honest trial of some other method. It is reasonably certain sufficient revenue can be raised for the support of the government without relying longer upon a system, which, while it produces a sufficiency of means to support the government, does so at the sacrifice of principle and in plain violation of the simplest rules of public morality. There is not a tax-payer in the State to-day who does not feel that in necessary self-defense, under the law as administered, he has the right to conceal his property from the eye of the assessor, and when he does not or can not conceal it, he will be perfectly safe in returning it at such value as suits his convenience, or certainly at such value as he can arrange for with the assessor.

I again invite the attention of the Legislature to the revenue code submitted by the commission provided for by joint resolution of the thirty-fourth General Assembly. The code was formally reported to the last General Assembly, but was not finally acted upon or disposed of at said session. A plan is therein proposed which is worthy of more serious consideration than it has yet received, and which it is believed, if substantially adopted, will greatly improve our present system of taxation. I do not consider it necessary to go over the ground covered by the Commission in the provisions of the code recommended, and in the report which accompanies it. It is reasonably certain should the code be substantially enacted, revenue enough for all State purposes will be raised without imposing unjust or inequitable burdens upon the quasi-public corporations to which the code looks for that purpose; or if at any time revenue for such purpose should fail to meet necessary appropriations, means are provided for a sufficiency, of such revenue from other sources, compatible with the system of raising revenue for local purposes.

Lands and town lots, which now bear much the larger share of taxation, together with personal property, would be released from further contributions to the revenue for state purposes. County and other local authorities would be left free to impose such taxation, subject to the limit fixed by law as to rate, as would be required for their own local needs, and would be unembarrassed by the consideration that their own assessments would subject them to any undue share of state burdens. Assessments would necessarily approach a nearer relation to the cash value of all property to be taxed, and a vast amount of taxable property which has habitually escaped taxation would be discovered and made to bear its just proportion of the burdens of local government, because low rates would drive the assessor to find and assess such property in order to meet the just demands of local government. County assessments and rates would be made with reference alone to county and local necessities, wholly unaffected by what other counties and localities might see fit to do, either as to assessment of property or rate of taxation, and the State would be relieved from the odious system of low valuations, and high rates of taxation, from which it now suffers. Every citizen conscious that a just and equitable system had taken the place of one which constantly excites suspicion, duplicity and dishonesty, would co-operate with the officers of the law in securing honest and fair valuations of all taxable property in the State, so that all should share in the burden of government alike, and not, as now, feel obliged to remain silent under the most provoking discriminations and favoritism, to the manifest injury of good morals and sound public justice.

PENITENTIARIES.

The report of the Commissioners of the Illinois State Penitentiary at Joliet for the two years ending September 30th, A. D. 1888, shows a healthy condition of that prison. I specially invite your attention to the tables of earnings from contract labor and of expenses of maintenance of the prison. These tables show a falling off of about $50,000.00 in two years, from receipts from this source in former years. This loss is accounted for mainly by the decrease in the number of convicts received into the prison during the last two years. The number of such convicts was on September 30th, 1888, 224 less than on September 30th, 1886. While in a moral sense the public is to be congratulated on this desirable result, since it points in some degree to more serious regard for law, and tends to increase the hope that crime is gradually on the decrease in our midst, it nevertheless accounts for any deficit in the earnings of the prison. In order to make the deficit good, the Commissioners were obliged to draw from the appropriation of $136,000.00 made by the last General Assembly, $35,000.00; of which amount, however, up to the present time, only $25,000.00 has been used, leaving in the hands of the Commissioner to apply to any increasing deficiency the unexpended balance of $10,000.00.

In addition to the fact that the number of convicts has fallen off in the last two years, it will be remembered that in August, A. D. 1887, 267 convicts employed upon convict labor were thrown upon the Commissioners to be employed in some other way than upon contract account, and it was in contemplation of this known fact the Legislature increased the appropriation, conditional and contingent, of $50,000.00 per annum to a total sum of $136,000.00 for the two years of 1887 and 1888. As there were existing contracts for prison labor which the Commissioners, under the law, felt obliged to carry out in good faith upon the part of the State, the steadily decreasing number of criminals enabled the Commissioners to supply the demands of contractors largely from the 267 thrown back upon them by the expiration of contracts which could not be renewed under the constitutional amendment of 1886, prohibiting them from making new contracts for the labor of convicts. By this course the Commissioners were relieved from the use of the appropriation of $135,000.00 to a greater extent than has been stated above. On the first day of August next, contracts will expire which now require the labor of 305 convicts to fulfill; revenue from this source, to that extent, to maintain the prison will cease at that time. Should, as is to be hoped, the number of convicts steadily diminish in the same proportion as for the last two years, it will become an important and pressing question as to how revenue is to be obtained to support prison management and expenses. In any event, it will be but a few years until the State will be obliged, under the constitutional amendment of 1886, to make complete provision for the employment of its convicts. That they are to be kept in idleness for purposes of education or reformation for any great length of time, or for any time at all, I do not believe. Sound policy requires that criminals should be punished as well as reformed. For their own benefit, as well as for the benefit of the public whose laws have been violated, convicts ought to be allowed or compelled to labor while under sentence.

Since the contract system has been abolished, I know no other or better than the state account plan. To put this into execution so as to keep the convict employed and not to bring his labor in conflict with free outside labor of the honest mechanic, artisan or laboring-man, will test the ingenuity of the most skilled legislator. In the meantime, under existing conditions, appropriations will be necessary for the penitentiaries of the State for the next two years. I recommend at least $100,000.00 for the one at Joliet. I do not think a less amount would be safe, and doubt if more may not be found necessary before the end of the next two years.

CHESTER.

The reports of the Commissioners and Warden fully explain the condition of the Illinois Southern Penitentiary. The affairs of this prison have been prudently and economically managed. Seventy-seven thousand, five hundred dollars per annum was appropriated for the last two years under section 1 of the act approved June 15, 1887, and $6,200 for special purposes. The appropriations were found sufficient for all the purposes for which they were intended, and were strictly expended for such purposes only.

A great many valuable improvements in the way of barns, stables and sheds for the shelter and protection of stock, made from lumber sawed on the prison grounds, together with several more substantial buildings and shops, have been erected during the last two years, chiefly by convict labor and at a nominal cost in each case to the State.

In July, 1887, the State became the owner of the brick yard formerly operated by Mitchell & Needles, and soon thereafter entered upon the manufacture of brick, and from time to time have enlarged the plant until now a very large and profitable trade is carried on in the prison, giving employment to more than fifty convicts on State account. No difficulty has thus far been encountered in disposing of the brick made at the prison to the ordinary trade of the country. .

The new cell house, for the building of which $75,000 was appropriated at the last session of the Legislature, will be completed by the first of July next. It will contain 400 cells, and, by the use of prison labor largely, will be constructed without exceeding the appropriation for that purpose.

The report shows no material change in the number of convicts confined in the prison from the two previous years. Existing contracts for the labor of about 225 convicts will expire June 30, 1890; other contracts for about 150 convicts will not expire, with the existing privilege of renewal, until several years later.

The appropriation for ordinary expenses for 1887 and 1888 was $75,000 per annum. The Commissioners and Warden ask for $65,000 per annum for the next two years for ordinary purposes, and $15,000 for other and special purposes. It seems to me, under the circumstances, the sums desired are moderate and necessary, and I therefore recommend that appropriations be made for the purposes stated.

The management and discipline of both penitentiaries, under the law, is substantially the same; the one at Chester, however, would be well adapted to any new or untried system of prison reform, should the Legislature desire to experiment upon or inaugurate any of the various schemes suggested in that respect. I leave all such measures, however, to the sound sense of your respective bodies, uninfluenced by any suggestions of my own.

BOARD OF LIVE STOCK COMMISSIONERS.

The acts of 1885 and 1887, creating and establishing the Board of Live Stock Commissioners, was a timely and prudent effort upon the part of the State to protect the lives and health of our domestic animals. The Board appointed to carry the law into execution, by great industry, good practical sense and an earnest effort to make the law effective, is enabled to report to the Legislature the complete extirpation of contagious pleuro-pneumonia in the State. There can be no doubt the pest had more seriously than ever, in 1886, fastened itself upon the cattle herds of Cook county and seriously threatened the great cattle interest of northern Illinois, if not the whole State. I respectfully request that the reports of 1887 and 1888, soon to be printed and laid before your respective bodies, be carefully considered with reference to a full and complete history and understanding of the peril to which the cattle interests of Illinois were exposed by the contagion which became epidemic in 1886, in the districts covered by my proclamations of that year. It is not likely that Illinois is ever to become solely a grain growing State. Our rich grass and meadow lands are naturally adapted to the raising of all kinds of domestic animals. Cattle, horses and hogs will always constitute a large portion of our agricultural industries, and the wealth to come to our people will always be largely dependent upon the amount of capital invested in stock and stock breeding and raising. It is an interest which will demand the protection of law and the constant supervision and encouragement of the State.

The returns of local assessors show for 1888, for the purposes of taxation, the following number and value of domestic animals:

Horses.....	998,031,	valued at.....	$24,826,145
Mules and asses....	100,613,	" "	2,517,970
Cattle	2,423,484,	" "	17,229,377
Sheep	554,910,	" "	534,769
Hogs	1,966,700,	" "	2,793,326

The known practice of assessing all property in this State by local assessors, at one-third or one-fourth its actual or cash value, will justify the conclusion that the real value of the domestic animals above enumerated would exceed $150,000,000.

I respectfully urge, in view of the fact that our domestic animals, in the very center of the cattle traffic of the United States, exposed to the inroads and approaches of epidemic disease from every quarter of the commerce of our vast country, ought to demand and receive the constant and solicitous attention of the State.

It is true, the national government is giving some attention and aid to this great industry, and doubtless will, as it ought, continue to do so. It does so, however, by co-operation with the respective state governments. The act of June 28th, A. D. 1887, authorizes the Governor to accept the rules and regulations of the Commissioner of Agriculture and to co-operate with the United States in the enforcement of an act of Congress upon the subject. Under said act of our Legislature, the inspector of the Bureau of Animal Industry, has the right of inspection, quarantine and condemnation of animals affected with any contagious, infectious or communicable disease, or that have been exposed to such disease in this State. Other important powers are conferred by said act upon said inspector. The same act also provides, "That all expenses of quarantine, condemnation of animals exposed to disease, and the expenses of any and all measures that may be used to suppress and extirpate pleuro-pneumonia shall be paid by the United States."

Under said act, and indeed prior thereto, on the 20th of April, 1887, the United States assumed the payment for cattle slaughtered in the State, and did contribute large sums for such purpose. It is perhaps proper to state, however, that inspection, quarantine and slaughter of animals, after the United States undertook to aid in the contest with the pest in this State, was conducted under our state laws and regulations, and that the act of June 28th, A. D. 1887, providing for co-operation, was not called into requisition or use at any time prior to my proclamation raising all quarantine restrictions in this State on April 1st, A. D. 1888. I respectfully submit that, notwithstanding the aid we may rightfully expect from the government of the United States in resisting the inroads of epidemic diseases amongst our domestic animals, it will never be safe or wise to wholly withdraw state aid and support from these great home interests, and that the State ought to be slow in relinquishing the use of its police powers in guarding and protecting this vast interest.

The following statement will show the various sums heretofore appropriated and expended and the balance of such appropriations undrawn by the Board on account of pleuro-pneumonia and other epidemic diseases:

It will be noticed from the foregoing statement that $156,773.44 remains in the Treasury from the appropriations of 1887. To maintain State supervision under the excellent system we now have, unless there shall be an extraordinary outbreak of some of the virulent diseases, which may, unless carefully watched, become epidemic, will not require a greater expenditure than $10,000 or $12,000 per annum.

To guard against such possible danger, would it not be wise to place at the disposal of the Commission conditionally, and contingently, $50,000 per annum? I respectfully recommend that such appropriation be made.

RAILROAD AND WAREHOUSE COMMISSION.

The reports of the Railroad and Warehouse Commission for the year 1887 and 1888, will fully explain the true condition of the numerous railroad corporations and the warehousing system in this State. A complete statement is furnished of the operation and management of each, and a vast amount of valuable and interesting information is contributed upon these important subjects. Sixty-one railroad corporations, controlling and operating 13,000 miles of railroads, including 346 miles of new roads built in 1888, giving steady employment to 56,000 persons, the aggregate of whose wages exceeds $32,000,000 per annum; the estimated total cost of construction and equipment of all said roads exceeding $330,000,000; carrying in 1888, 32,000,000 passengers at an average rate of 2.29 cents per mile; the total income of the passenger department of said roads for 1888 amounting to more than $17,000,000, and transporting for the same year more than 53,000,000 tons of freight at an average charge of one and six-tenth cents (1.6) per ton per mile, the total income from which source was about $39,000,000; the total amount of the operating expenses, of all of said roads amounting to more than $38,000,000, contributing in the way of taxation for State and local purposes for said year, $2,739,612, may be justly regarded as among the first of the great interests which constitute the resources and wealth of a great State.

To judiciously supervise and scrutinize the practical operations of this vast system so as to make it yield the greatest possible results of good to the public, in offering the amplest accommodations in transportation of persons and property, at just and reasonable rates, with due regard to the safety of passengers and property which pass over its lines, requires in my opinion the constant attention and inspection of a commission of able and honest men, to represent the public in immediate connection and communication with the officers and agents who manage the affairs of said roads.

It is gratifying to be informed by the reports of the Commissioners that there has been great improvement in the tracks and road-bed of the railroads in the State; that a more amicable feeling exists between the roads and the public, and that with few exceptions freight rates are satisfactory to the patrons of the roads.

The impartiality and competency of the officers in charge of the inspection and warehousing of grain increases the confidence of the public in the utility and management of these departments, and as a result, the Chicago grain inspection maintains the high place it has fairly won in all the grain markets of the world.

BUREAU OF LABOR STATISTICS.

The act of 1879 creating a Board of Commissioners of labor, which has since become known and designated as the Bureau of Labor Statistics, provided for the establishment of an office of inquiry for the special purpose of procuring and publishing statistics concerning the industrial relations of the people. Although somewhat obscure in its phraseology, the act evidently contemplated a systematic and thorough investigation into the industrial, social and economic conditions of the people, and a series of reports on these vital subjects, based upon statistics so collected, collated, analyzed and published as to afford practical and trustworthy information both to the General Assembly and the general public.

The passage of our mining laws, and the act of 1883 in regard to the inspection of mines, are further evidences of the same general purpose on the part of the State to make reasonable provision for investigation into the resources of the State and the well-being of those engaged in developing them. Our manufacturing and mining interests are of increasing importance. Already the value of our factory products is twice as great as the value of all our farm products. The value also of our mineral products is represented by increasing millions; and all these interests, and the people identified with and dependent upon them, deserve the constant attention of the Legislature.

Responsive to the legislation already effected, the Bureau of Labor Statistics has, in a series of biennial and special reports, brought to the attention of our people a vast amount of statistical information concerning the employment of labor in all the arts and industries, and the economic conditions developed by the endless enterprises of an active and intelligent people.

The fifth biennial report, soon to be laid before your bodies, enters upon a new field of statistical inquiry—equally interesting in itself and germane to the purpose and intent of the act creating the Board. This report presents the statistics of the mortgage debt in Illinois. The gross indebtedness of individuals, as distinguished from the aggregate of public and corporate debt, in so far as the same becomes a matter of public registration, is a statistical summary of the first importance to any State or people. The leading feature of this report is a compilation of this character, embracing such debts as are found on the public records secured by mortgages on real and personal estate. As such it presents, not fully in fact, but fully as to mortgages, the total of all private debt in the State; and, if it be carefully studied, will doubtless greatly enlighten the public mind on a subject which has heretofore been involved in obscurity, and as to which the greatest diversity of opinion and exaggeration of statement has prevailed.

If it is desirable to maintain investigations of this character, and extend the accumulation of evidence as to the conditions of life in this State, such an expenditure should be authorized as will, under prudent management, secure the best results. Statistics are of value in exact ratio as they are authentic, impartial and exhaustive; but the cost of them in time, labor and money is also great in exact ratio as they possess these high qualities.

THE STATE BOARD OF HEALTH.

The intelligent and faithful discharge of the duties imposed by law upon the State Board of Health, and the benefits which accrue therefrom to the commonwealth, sufficiently attest the wisdom of the Legislature in the creation of this organization. From the vast field covered by its labors it is only possible, in this connection, to single out for mention a few of its most important works.

It is charged by the constituting act with the supervision of the interests of the life and health of the citizens of the State, and to this end, the Board has addressed its efforts more particularly to the limitation and—so far as is practicable—to the prevention of epidemics of contagious and infectious diseases.

It is a matter of record—a fact which I understand has now passed into the authentic history of epidemics in this country—that the labors of the Board in this direction resulted in a saving of nearly $3,500,000 to the people of the State in 1881 and 1882, when small-pox was epidemic. Through the preventive and protective measures then established and since enforced, there has been no repetition of that disease in an epidemic form.

The wise and intelligent policy of the Board on the subject of quarantine has been of great value to the material interests, not only of Illinois, but of the whole Mississippi Valley. While vigilantly guarding against the introduction and spread of the dangerous, contagious and infectious diseases, it secures the least interference with commerce and travel, and so averts unfounded panics and prevents loss and interruption of business and industry. During the past few months a striking illustration of the value of this policy was afforded by the action of the worthy secretary of the Board, who refused to sanction any expenditure of money from the public treasury in the maintenance of quarantine restrictions, which his wide and varied experience and scientific knowledge enabled him to pronounce unnecessary for the State. His firmness in this instance alone prevented the loss of thousands of dollars, besides great inconvenience to travelers and vexatious interference with business; and the example thus set materially helped to check the ruinous and needless quarantine enforced in other States.

In 1883 the Board began a sanitary survey of the State, with the object of preparing it against a threatened invasion of Asiatic cholera. This work, which is still being prosecuted, embraces a house to house inspection, which results in abatement of private as well as public nuisances, in the sanitary defects and unhealthy conditions. It is claimed that in consequence of this work the cities, towns and villages of Illinois have steadily improved in their sanitary conditions, until the State is now one of the healthiest and most favorable to long and vigorous life of any in the Union.

An important agency in the preservation of health is an abundant supply of pure water. With the growth of population and the increase of wastes and sewage, our natural water supplies are becoming contaminated, and the question of the disposal of these wastes and sewage is a matter demanding serious consideration. The secretary of the Board has made the pollution of streams and the character of water supplies the subject of personal study for many years, and an exhaustive investigation, involving hundreds of chemical analyses, microscopic and biologic examinations and the engineering questions involved, is now being made by the Board under his immediate supervision. The scope of this investigation embraces the pollution of rivers and other water courses by sewage and industrial wastes, and the character of the water supply, both public and domestic, of cities, towns and villages and of all State institutions; it also includes the character, extent and location of the subterranean reservoirs. There is reason to anticipate from these, in many localities, an abundant supply of pure water, not liable to contamination from sewage or other pollution, and constant at all seasons. If these expectations are realized, not only communities but individuals—farmers, stock raisers, manufacturers and others—will be largely benefited by this work of the Board.

A separate and distinct line of duty and responsibility is devolved upon the Board by the medical practice act. During less than the twelve years of its existence, this act has done much to protect the sick and the afflicted from charlatans and quacks; it has driven out of the State most of the ignorant, unqualified and unprincipled men who were preying upon the miseries of their fellows; and it is not too much to say that it has elevated and ennobled the practice of medicine, both in the State and throughout the country. The methods of medical education have been improved as a consequence, and the standard of attainments required of the physician who is to deal with the weighty questions of health and disease, and of life and death, is being steadily raised.

The Illinois State Board of Health is now regarded as the pioneer in this work, and it is quoted as authority both in this country and abroad. Since the passage of the amended act—in force July 1st, 1887—the Board has refused licenses to itinerant vendors of nostrums, with show accompaniments; the amount of these licenses would aggregate over $20,000, but the sum which the itinerants would fleece from the credulous would figure up hundreds of thousands a year.

That the Board has been prudent and economical in the expenditure of appropriations, subject to its order, is manifest from the fact that the contingent sum of $40,000 for 1885–1886 was conveyed back into the Treasury untouched. Of a similar amount appropriated for 1887–1888, only a small amount has been expended. I recommend the usual appropriations to sustain the Board and continue its usefulness to the State; and have no doubt that it will be wise to continue the usual contingent appropriation.

BOARDS OF PHARMACY AND DENTAL EXAMINERS.

The reports for the last two years, from the Boards of Pharmacy and Dental Examiners, will supply full information as to the condition of each. The laws creating these Boards and conferring the powers and imposing the duties necessary to make both effective for the public good, are founded on good reason and intelligent experience. They are both necessary agents in the preservation and protection of the public health, and ought to be sustained upon a more solid basis than the law at present provides. Both are self-sustaining. Reasonable appropriations, so as to relieve the Boards from personal charges for their support, would doubtless increase the efficiency of each and contribute in a large degree to their usefulness.

FISH COMMISSION.

The act of the last General Assembly to encourage the propagation and cultivation, and to secure the protection of fish in all the waters of this State, and repealing all other acts in conflict with the same, enlarged the scope and power of the Commissioners and enabled them to still more effectively protect and utilize the fish supply of the State. It is an industry, if properly cared for and protected by law, capable of yielding profitable results, and of largely increasing a most excellent food supply to the masses of our people.

REPORT OF THE ADJUTANT GENERAL.

The report of the Adjutant General will correctly show the condition of the National Guard and the operation of our militia law for the last two years. It estimates the appropriations necessary for the next two years to maintain the efficiency of this arm of the State service, and contains suggestions of amendments of the present law, to make it more effective for the purpose for which it is intended—to aid the civil powers of the State in the execution of the law. I believe the amendments suggested will be productive of more efficiency and will contribute to a better organization of the National Guard, and therefore, recommend them to your favorable consideration.

I am satisfied the appropriations heretofore made have been cautiously and economically expended for the good of the service, and that its present state of efficiency and discipline show that such appropriations were necessary to the maintenance of a well regulated militia. The men are neatly uniformed, properly armed, well cared for when in camp or on a tour of duty, and show by their deportment as citizen soldiers that they understand the value of discipline and obedience to orders. In severing my connection with them as Commander-in-Chief, I take pride as well as pleasure in commending the Illinois National Guard to the confidence and continuous support of the people of the State.

ILLINOIS AND MICHIGAN CANAL.

The report of the Canal Commissioners shows the revenue derived from tolls, low as they are, and from other sources, during the last year, have been sufficient to keep the canal in good condition for navigation and to keep it in repair, so that it may still be utilized in connection with the Illinois river as a mode of water communication through our State. It is a lever by which to regulate railroad transportation over a very considerable portion of the State, and in all respects is worthy of the aid it receives from the State in the way of appropriations. The truth is, it costs the State nothing; the usual contingent appropriation of $20,000 per annum is never touched by the Commissioners; it always lapses into the Treasury because no extraordinary conditions arise to draw upon it for maintenance and repairs. The affairs of the canal have been so wisely managed by the Commissioners that the revenues collected have been sufficient, not only to keep up repairs, but as the fact is, to complete the system of rip-raps which will insure the banks from waste by washing and floods for all future time. This is a substantial improvement. I must commend the Commissioners for economy, prudence and honesty in the performance of the duty imposed upon them. Their report shows a balance of $63,325.13 to the credit of the canal for the year ending November 30, A. D. 1888, after the payments of all debts and accounts for maintenance, repairs, management and materials and improvements thereon.

EDUCATIONAL INSTITUTIONS.

The report of the able Superintendent of Public Instruction furnishes most satisfactory information of the growth and present condition of free school education in our State. The system is a grand one. It contemplates the education of every child of school-going age at the expense of the public. It is heartily supported by the people, and year by year steadily increases in usefulness, by the inestimable benefits it bestows upon the children of the State. The revision authorized by the last General Assembly has been completed by the Superintendent of Public Instruction, and will be laid before the legislature in his report. I believe a careful examination of the alterations and modifications of the existing system proposed in the plan of revision, will commend them to general acceptance. Instead of 98 different sections, with many additional special acts, the revision proposes sixteen different articles, divided into as many sections as there are separate but cognate subjects. And thus it will become, in a short time, a matter of ease for any one to find out what the law is upon any desired subject without the inconvenience of a long and vexatious search through 98 sections to find it. It appears, from the report of the Superintendent, that the number of children of school age in 1888 was 1,118,472; the number of pupils enrolled was 751,349, the average attendance was 518,043; the average duration of the schools was 153.3 days; the average number of days of attendance for each pupil was 105.7; the average monthly wages of male teachers was $52.93; of females $43.09.

The total expenditures for public schools was $10,661,017.15. Of these amounts there was paid for salaries of teachers $6,714,516.98, and the permanent productive school funds for the State, not including University, was $10,383,132.99.

The foregoing school statistics are important and instructive. I therefore feel justified in embodying them in this message.

The University of Illinois, I am gratified to state, is steadily growing in importance as an institution of learning, and is yearly enlarging the scope of its usefulness. It teaches all branches of learning relating to agriculture and the mechanic arts, as contemplated by the law of its creation. It deserves, and ought to receive, the encouragement and support of the public.

The State and Southern Normal Universities continue, as heretofore, to fulfill the responsible duties as educational institutions, imposed upon them by law, in a most satisfactory manner. Both are in excellent condition, are under admirable management, and are steadily earning the confidence of the people by the good they do in elevating the standard of excellence of the school teacher. The common school system requires an army of teachers; both are nurseries of this class of desirable citizens. We must have educated teachers, and more of them year by year, as long as our population shall increase. The Normal Universities ought to be relied upon largely to furnish them. We must not cripple their energies in the effort to do so.

I recommend the appropriations suggested for the several universities; I am satisfied they will be required before the close of the next two years.

STATE CHARITABLE INSTITUTIONS.

The report of the Board of State Commissioners of Public Charities will give, in general and detail, a complete history of the condition and wants of our various public charities. The demands of these institutions upon the treasury will never cease. Indeed, a little reflection will enable any considerate person to understand how this must be so. It is lamentable, but the truth must be admitted, that the sorrowful and distracting ailments, mentally and physically, of the human family, do not diminish in proportion to the hopes of the world, based upon the many moral, christian and intelligent agencies constantly applied for their amelioration. In our own State, the insane increase at the rate of from 1,300 to 1,500 annually, as adjudged by the county courts. Necessarily the number of the incurable insane continue also greatly to increase. This latter class must be provided for, as well as the curable insane, by the State, or turned loose, a prey upon the public, unless provided for by private families, which in most cases are unable to do so, or be cared for in alms-houses or county jails. The feeble-minded increase in like proportion to the insane. The State has done, does now and doubtless will continue as long as a sorrowful necessity of this character shall require its aid, to alleviate the miseries of those classes of unfortunate citizens. I have no doubt it would be wise for the Legislature to make additional provision for the increasing number of insane and feeble-minded who cannot, under our present accommodations, be admitted into established hospitals and institutions for treatment. Illinois ranks high among the States which make provision for its unfortunate citizens. The people have constantly shown a willing disposition to furnish all needful revenues for such purposes. The public sense responds to the charitable emotions of the public heart in supporting all reasonable efforts to alleviate the miseries of the unfortunate classes stricken with mental disease and mental deformity.

I am satisfied all our charitable and reformatory institutions are wisely, humanely and economically managed by the various boards of trustees and superintendents who are charged under the law with their management. It will probably require for ordinary expenses for the support of the eleven institutions $1,000,000 annually. Doubtless very considerable sums will be required for special purposes, but as such purposes will be specially inquired into by the Legislature and the several committees which will have these various details before them, I defer any further discussion of them in this message.

The act of Congress of August 27, 1888, appropriates the sum of $250,000 to the States and Territories which have established homes for disabled soldiers, at the rate of $100 per annum for each inmate of such state home. Illinois will be entitled to the benefit of said act of Congress, and I have no doubt the managers of the National Home for Disabled Volunteer Soldiers, charged with the execution of the act, will, in a short time, award to our State the due share of the appropriation of $250,000, provided by said act for apportionment amongst the States and Territories which have established homes for disabled soldiers. On the 4th of December, 1888, I addressed a communication to General W. B. Franklin, President of the Board of Managers, making formal request and requisition for such portion of the appropriation as our State would be entitled to, and in compliance with the regulations of said Board furnished authenticated copies of all acts of our legislature creating said home, and making appropriations for its maintenance. Since my communication of December 4, 1888, I have no reply from General Franklin or the Board of Managers on the subject. In order that the State may receive the full benefit of the act of Congress, and to avoid any delay which might arise from hesitation on the part of the Board of Managers of the National Home, I recommend the passage of an act at the earliest moment, accepting on the part of the State, the conditions of the act of Congress entitled, "An act to provide aid to state and territorial homes for the support of disabled soldiers and sailors of the United States, approved August 27, 1888," and authorizing the State Treasurer to receive and account for any and all moneys which may accrue or become due to the State under the provisions of said act.

AGRICULTURE.

The statute provides, "that the Department of Agriculture, for the promotion of agriculture and horticulture, manufactures and the domestic arts," shall be managed by the State Board of Agriculture, which Board has spared no reasonable effort in the endeavor to stimulate and encourage all engaged in rural pursuits to obtain the best results in the growing of crops, breeding stock and other lines of work that tend to develop the agricultural resources of the State. The General Assembly has in the past manifested its approval of the earnest and intelligent service performed by the State Board of Agriculture, not only in the enactment of proper laws, but by providing such appropriations as have been required from time to time to meet the requirements incident to the rapid development of the farming interests of the State.

The last General Assembly appropriated to the Department of Agriculture less than ten thousand dollars ($9,800) per annum.

This nominal appropriation for agriculture, when the importance and magnitude of this our leading industry is duly considered, has been used to good advantage in collecting and distributing information of practical value to all classes of our citizens interested therein, either as producers or consumers.

The conditions of agriculture in this State at this time are such as to make it possible for the General Assembly to promote the same by providing the necessary appropriation for the holding at suitable times and places, of farmers' institute meetings, for the discussion of practical subjects relating to the profitable methods of growing crops, breeding stock, and especially for the study of the superior advantages enjoyed by the farmers of this State, which, if more fully understood, would tend to make all desirous of continuing in this calling more contented and prosperous.

The partial development of the agriculture of this State is a matter of the first importance for the consideration of the General Assembly in connection with the legislation for the department of agriculture, the state and county fairs and the general work of the State Board of Agriculture.

REPORT OF THE ATTORNEY GENERAL AND OTHER EXECUTIVE OFFICERS.

The biennial reports of the Secretary of State, Attorney General, State Treasurer, Auditor of Public Accounts and Superintendent of Public Instruction, which contain valuable information in relation to all matters which come under their supervision, will be laid before you. Vouchers for all moneys paid out by the Governor, from any fund subject to his order, are on file in the office of the Auditor of Public Accounts. I transmit herewith a report from the State House Commissioners, appointed under section 2 of an act approved June 14, A. D. 1883, giving a statement of the expenditures of the sum appropriated for the completion of the State House.

CONCLUSION.

The present condition of the State has been briefly considered in connection with the various subjects and matters of interest to which I have referred. The range, however, of your powers extends over the whole field of public affairs, and I doubt not your deliberations will be productive of good to the people. In a few days my public duties will come to a close. I may be pardoned for expressing the satisfaction enjoyed in endeavoring to discharge the duties of the office of Governor in co-operation with the Legislative and Judicial departments of the State government, and for the cordial co-operation and support of my colleagues in the Executive department during the last four years. The supreme executive powers will soon devolve upon my successor in office. His acknowledged abilities, patriotism and familiarity with public affairs are a sure guarantee that fresh from the walks of private life, he will faithfully and intelligently discharge the duties of his office and vindicate by his prudence and judgment the wisdom of the people in their choice.

Trusting that your session will be a pleasant one and that your labors will contribute to the general prosperity of the State, I invoke upon your deliberations the favor of Almighty God.

RICHARD J. OGLESBY.

Mr. Miller, of Stark, moved to lay the message on the table to be taken up and read at the pleasure of the House, and the resolution was adopted.

A message from the Senate by J. W. Bailey, Assistant Secretary:

Mr. Speaker: I am directed to inform the House of Representatives that the Senate has concurred with them in the adoption of the following joint resolution:

Resolved, by the House of Representatives, the Senate concurring herein, That the two Houses shall meet in joint session in the hall of the House of Representatives, on Thursday, the 10th day of January, A. The Hon. Joseph W. Fifer, Governor, then delivered his inaugural message as follows:

FELLOW-CITIZENS—Having been declared the duly elected Governor of the State, and taken in your presence the oath of office, I follow a custom of my predecessors rather than any written law, in now addressing you briefly, before entering upon the discharge of my official duties. Deeply sensible of the honor I have received and of the expressions of popular confidence it implies, I take this early opportunity of returning through you to the people of the State my grateful acknowledgement of their favor, accompanied with the assurance that my cherished object and first ambition shall be by a faithful and economical administration, to prove myself worthy of the confidence reposed in me.

I have not the self-sufficient vanity to suppose I can successfully discharge the important duties of this position without the sympathy and help of that great body of well disposed citizens whose aggregate sense, courage and character form the bulwark of all free government. With the active aid of all such, I hope meas-urably to comply with the provisions of the constitution which commands that the Governor "Shall take care that the laws be faithfully executed."

GOV. OGLESBY.

The able and exhaustive message presented by my worthy predecessor leaves little to be said upon any subject which it touches, and I commend its suggestions to the consideration of the House and Senate in the responsible labors of the session now opening. Services so conspicuous as those rendered to the State and Nation by the retiring Chief Executive, will, I feel sure, justify some allusion by me to his long and honorable career. For more than a third of a century Richard J. Oglesby has been prominent in the civic and military history of Illinois. In all that time no call of patriotic duty remained unheeded; no cause embracing the public weal found him a laggard. In wars his heroic breast stood a bulwark between the great Republic and her enemies. To cement the union of the fathers he shed his blood. As a member of both the State and National Senate, and as Governor of this commonwealth, to which latter office he received the rare compliment of three elections, he proved himself well able by wise statesmanship to preserve in council what his intrepid valor helped to win in the field. Strong in attachment to party and living in times of partisan strife, his career yet exemplifies the maxim that, "He serves his party best who serves his country best." Retiring voluntarily from the scenes of his public labors and triumphs, he goes from us crowned with honors and followed by the gratitude and affection of his fellow-citizens.

PROTECTION TO THE BALLOT.

We have lately closed a national campaign singularly free from personal detraction, in which economic questions of high and permanent importance for many months held the attention of the entire Nation, resulting, it is believed, in the better education of the people in the duties of citizenship. Upon this result and the unusual good feeling which now prevails, the country is to be congratulated. Patriotic men of all parties will, I doubt not, unite in giving to the incoming administration, if not a hearty support, at least that cheerful acquiescence which is due to the legally expressed will of the majority. Political power resides with the people, and is expressed only at the ballot box; therefore the man who refuses acquiescence commits an offense of the same grade as he who seeks to falsify the result by corrupt methods at the polls. The consequences of ordinary crimes are usually confined to a few victims, while he who by any means robs the citizen of his constitutional right of casting his one vote, and of having that vote fairly counted and its effect fairly registered in the declared result violates the fundamental principle of free government, corrupts and poisons political authority in its very sources, and should receive speedy and severe punishment. It is made by statute unlawful in this State for the elector to sell his vote; but the statute pronounces no penalty against the more guilty and dangerous party who plies the trade of corrupting voters with money. The interest of the public in this matter is in the line of purifying the ballot, and securing fair elections; and it can hardly be denied that he who buys a vote is morally as culpable and really more dangerous to society than he who sells one. The buyer is the more active agent in crime, and he who buys one vote is really ready to buy many more. He operates in a larger field than the man who has a single vote to sell, and generally represents accomplices of wealth and influence. Sound policy and the purifying of elections seems to me to require that this law be changed by making the bribe-giver the chief offender; and if necessary, to secure convictions, that either should escape, let it be the most ignorant and less responsible person who sells his vote. The law should at least be amended to correspond to the statute relating to cases of bribery which makes both parties equally guilty, leaving it to the discretion of the prosecution which offender shall be proceeded against, and making the one not prosecuted a competent witness.

THE LABOR QUESTION.

The serious attention of the law-making power is justly due to the needs of that large and respectable class of our fellow-citizens who labor for wages with their hands. The happiness and prosperity of those who do the world's daily toil is a paramount object of government, for on their contentment and faith in government largely rests the stability of our social order and the safety of property and life. A free government based on manhood suffrage can of all others least afford to ignore the rights or hinder the just ambitions of its humblest citizen; and when in any country, law from its high function of being a shield to protect, falls to the office of a weapon in the hands of corporate wealth to strike down the rights of labor, the true ends of government are subverted and popular discontent is fully justified. No longer at least in free America can the laborer be dealt with as an insensate tool, or a convenient beast of burden; but as a man created in the image of God, with not only a stomach to feed, but a soul with hopes and aspirations to be satisfied. He is a man, an equal and a brother whose reverence for law can not be impaired without infinite danger to the State. When the State fails in its duty to the laboring man, sensible that injustice has been done him, he becomes discontented and restless, ready not unfrequently to be misled by zealous but misguided friends upon the one hand, or imposed upon by selfish and intriguing politicians on the other, and, in either event injury is done alike to the individual and the State. Such reflections are especially appropriate for our consideration, for the reason that the industrial tendency of the age is against individual enterprise and toward great and permanent establishments, based upon combined and aggregated wealth. These latter have given rise to new industrial conditions not contemplated by the founders of the State, the proper legal regulation of which could by no human forecast have been provided for before they arose. To the legislative wisdom and sound discretion of this age, falls the duty of enacting from time to time such laws as these rapidly developing industrial conditions require for their regulation. It is claimed, and with truth, that our country offers far better opportunities to the laboring man than any other. Here the poor of yesterday are the rich of to-day; and it is no uncommon thing for the wage-worker to become the proprietor of the establishment in which he formerly worked as a day laborer. On the other hand it is contended that much of what the laboring man receives of increased prosperity and opportunity in this land of superior bounty is the gift of heaven and not of men; and the real question is, therefore, not whether the condition of the laborer here is better than under the political and industrial despotisms of Europe, but is that condition as good as it can be made without doing injustice to any other class or interest of society. But while the opinions of honest men may differ touching the details of these great and important questions, it is gratifying to know that all good citizens agree that present evils, whether arising from the existence of bad laws, or the absence of needed ones, must be corrected by peaceful methods, and not by a resort to force. It is our boast that political power resides with the people, and that the will of a minority must bow to the legally expressed judgment of the whole people. On this fundamental maxim of republican government rests the hope of all genuine legal reform. A high function and imperative duty of government is, through its own proper police agencies, to keep the peace between all its citizens and to attend sedulously to the protection of life and property against force and lawlessness of whatever kind. The thirty-fifth General Assembly, acting upon the recommendations of Governor Oglesby and in compliance with just complaint that the police powers of the State were being usurped by irresponsible and unauthorized bodies, passed a law forbidding in strong terms and under heavy penalties, the arming and parading of companies of private detectives, and also the assumption of any such to act as officers of the peace without authority of law. This law took effect on July 1, 1887, and so far as I know, has been respected and obeyed by all the citizens of the State. In addition to the above law, which I have before taken occasion to say has my hearty personal approval, there are others covering subjects of like importance to the laboring portion of our people, which are more or less imperatively demanded at the hands of the present General Assembly. To discourse upon these in detail here would not perhaps comport with the proprieties of the occasion. I may, however, mention in passing as subjects demanding consideration, the following: A proper legal regulation of the construction of factory buildings, particularly as respects their safety appliances, sanitary arrangements and conditions, their fire escapes and other means of egress in case of accident or panic; the subject of amending the mining laws in the direction of securing greater safety to the lives of the miners working in them and for the purpose of establishing an equitable system of screening and weighing coal as it comes from the hands of the miner; the providing of an equitable method for the arbitration of all controversies arising between employers and employés, touching wages, hours of labor and other like subjects of difference. In some of the Eastern States, laws upon these subjects and in the general direction above indicated have been in successful operation, and it would seem to be the part of wisdom to profit by the experience of others, while at the same time conforming to our own sense of justice and equity. A great wrong, doubtless, is committed against the rights of the laboring men of this country by the importation of foreign cheap labor. Men who pay no taxes, who are not in sympathy with our institutions and laws, and who do not intend to become citizens, but on the contrary expect to return at some convenient time to the country whence they came, are permitted to come here and compete with our own citizens in the labor market for employment. To correct this evil more rigid laws should be enacted by the General Government and these laws should be faithfully executed. A single State can do but little in this direction, but it can do something, it can provide by law that none but American citizens, or those who intend to become such, shall be employed on the public works of the State. A law of this kind would be equitable and just, and so far as it goes, would protect our own citizens and those who intend to become citizens from being brought into competition with those who come here seeking labor only, and who do not expect to become identified in any way with our interests. Such persons are among us, but are not of us, and should be discriminated against in favor of our own laboring people. Of course, it is not to be supposed that laws even of the satisfactory character of the one already in force respecting the keeping of the peace, nor any that could be passed upon the other topics above mentioned by any possible exercise of combined wisdom and justice, would be effective to stop the mouth of the insincere and clamorous demagogue, whose trade is to stir up discontent and sedition, in order that in the resultant strife and passion he may pose as the friend of the down-trodden and shed quadrennial tears freely in exchange for votes at the polls. Such men, so far from being the true friends of labor, desire nothing so much as to see the laboring masses suffer wrongs that will produce discontent, and by doing so, serve as the ground of political agitation. Against the wrongs inflicted upon the wage-workers by such false friends there is no protection, except, happily, in the large and increasing intelligence of the working classes, by means of which they are able to see that not every one who mouths the smooth and often meaningless phrases of reform is fit to be trusted with the sacred cause of the American laborer.

THE PUBLIC SCHOOLS.

The estimated value of school property in the State, not including state educational institutions, in 1888, was, in round numbers, $25,000,000, and the public expenditures for school purposes during the same year were nearly $11,000,000, of which some $6,700,000 were paid to the teachers as salaries. More money is paid out annually for the purpose of education than for any other object, and this vast sum is wisely or foolishly spent, according as our public schools are efficiently or inefficiently conducted. These are burdens cheerfully borne by the tax-payers, many of whom have no children of their own to be educated, and are justified only upon the theory that all are politically interested in the intellectual and moral development of each. The State, as a State, having been wisely delegated the power over our school system, it becomes the duty of those who make and administer the laws to discharge the trust with the most sacred and scrupulous fidelity, not only to the citizens who so patriotically pay the taxes, but to the young of the land who are the beneficiaries of the system. This duty can only be discharged by the exercise of great care that wise laws touching this question be passed and wisely administered.

In this connection I would suggest the propriety of a law requiring a more thorough preparation and a higher standard of excellence on the part of those who expect to become teachers. Great advances have been made in the last decade. The old methods of teaching have been superseded by the new. The past twenty-five years have witnessed a revolution in school books, in the means adopted for the control and management of children, and in the various methods of imparting instruction, and it would seem that all those who expect to become teachers should be required to keep pace with the times and engage in that profession as a life work, and not merely as a stepping-stone to what they may deem a more desirable or lucrative business. In the essential matter of education the interests of children should not be committed to inexperienced hands. If so, the State commits a double wrong. It not only appropriates the money of the tax-payer to an object from which he derives no adequate return, but, what is far more important, deprives the young of those opportunities of an education that never return. School sites may be purchased and school houses erected all the modern improvements and appliances, aids to the latest and best methods of teaching may be purchased at the public expense until the present large expenditure is doubled, yet it will be money worse than wasted, for it will not only be a loss of money, but of opportunity also, unless those who teach are thoroughly qualified to do so by special training and preparation. As effective agencies in this training and preparation, I would mention our normal schools. The two institutions established and supported by the State have already accomplished great good. They have sent forth a large army of trained teachers into every section of our great State, and with their improved ideas and thorough training are accomplishing much good, each in his own neighborhood.

In order to receive the largest return for this great outlay of time and money some better means should be adopted whereby the children can be brought into the schools. The thirty-third General Assembly passed what is commonly called the compulsory educational law, which requires every person having control of children between the ages of 8 and 14 years, to send such children to a public or private school for a period of not less than twelve weeks in each school year, unless excused by the proper authorities. This law took effect on the 1st day of July, 1883, yet with one exception there has been, it is believed, no honest effort made to enforce it, although it is well known by those conversant with the subject, that there is not a school district in the State in which the act has not been violated. It has remained practically a dead letter upon our statute books. This is either a good law or a bad one. If a good law, it ought to be enforced; if a bad one, it ought to be repealed. And it has been truly said that the best way to secure the repeal of an obnoxious law is by its rigid enforcement. The results of the past four years must make it apparent to every one that this act contains no adequate provision for its enforcement. I would, therefore, suggest the propriety of providing by law for the election or appointment of some suitable person in each school district whose especial duty it shall be to see to the rigid enforcement of the law. Ignorance and its attendant evils, poverty and crime, constitute the real dangers to free institutions. The masses must be educated, and that large and rapidly increasing foreign element must be assimilated and Americanized, and our public schools are the most effective agencies for the accomplishment of these desirable objects.

No one who discerns aright the signs of the time can fail to realize that another great battle is to be fought out on this continent. It is not to be a war of bloodshed fought with shot and shell, but a war of ideas. A war of law and order against lawlessness and disorder, of morality against immorality, of religion against irreligion, and if the men and the women who are to come after us are intelligent and brave and strong, the battle will be won, but if they are ignorant and vicious, the battle will be lost, and the decline of the republic will have begun. It can not be expected in an address of this kind that reference can be made to all questions demanding public attention, and I therefore hasten to close. Illinois is indeed a great State, with nearly four millions of people within her borders. She is great not only in agriculture, manufacture and commerce, but likewise in her munificent charities and in the patriotism and intelligence of her people. In the war for the Union the valor of her soldiery won renown on every battlefield where duty called them. She gave to both the cabinet and the field that wisdom and courage which met and overcame unparalleled difficulties, resulting in "a new birth of freedom" upon this continent by which all men were made equal before the law. Let us, fellow-citizens, not only preserve inviolate the institutions which we have received at the hands of those who have gone before, but trusting in Divine Providence, let us strive also to make them better and stronger for the benefit of those who are to follow us.

16. It shall be the duty of the committee on Engrossed and Enrolled Bills to examine all engrossed and enrolled bills, correct any mistakes therein, and report the bills to the House; and it shall be in order for it to report at any time.
17. When any bill is about to be considered by a committee, the introducer of the bill shall be notified of the time and place where such bill shall be considered by such committee.

BILLS.

18. When the roll shall be called for the introduction of bills, each member may introduce three bills. And should the call be suspended by adjournment or otherwise, then calling of the roll shall be taken up when that order of business is reached at the point at which it was discontinued, and this order shall be observed until the roll call shall be alphabetically completed.

19. The Clerk shall indorse on every bill the number thereof, the name of the member introducing it, the date of introduction, and the several orders taken thereon; and when printed, said several indorsements shall be printed at the head of the bill.

21. The Clerk shall, as soon as any bill is printed, place the same in the postoffice boxes of the members.

22. Amendments to bills may be offered at the conclusion of the second reading, and all amendments to bills, except amendments by striking out, shall be printed when adopted, and shall in like manner be deposited in the postoffice boxes of the members one day before such amended bill shall be read a third time.

When an emergency is expressed in the preamble or body of an act, as a reason why such act should take effect prior to the first day of July next after its passage, and when such act contains a clause or proviso fixing such time prior to the first day of July, the question put shall be, "Shall the bill pass?" and if decided affirmatively by a vote of two-thirds of the members elected to this House, then the bill shall be deemed passed; and if, upon such vote, a majority of said members elected, but less than two-thirds thereof, vote affirmatively on said question, then the vote on said bill shall be deemed reconsidered, and the bill subject to amendment by striking out such part thereof as expresses an emergency and the time of taking effect, and then said bill shall be under consideration, upon its third reading, with the emergency clause and time of taking effect stricken out.

26. Every bill shall be read at large on three different days.

27. When a bill passes, it shall be certified by the Clerk, who, at the foot thereof, shall note the day it passes.

REFERENCE.

28. Appropriation bills which contain provisions relating to nothing else than the appropriation, shall be in order in preference to any other bills, unless otherwise ordered. 29. All questions relating to the priority of business to be acted on, shall be decided by the Speaker without debate.

RECONSIDERATION.

30. When a question has been once made and carried in the affirmative or negative, it shall be in order for a member of the majority to move for a reconsideration thereof, or give notice that he will make such motion within the time prescribed by this rule; for which time he shall control the motion. But no motion for the reconsideration of any vote shall be in order after a bill, resolution, message, report, amendment or motion, upon which the vote was taken, shall have gone out of possession of the House; nor shall any motion for reconsideration be in order, unless within the next day of actual session of the House: Provided, that should the member giving notice of a motion to reconsider not make such motion within the time prescribed by the rule, any other member voting with the majority may make such motion within the next succeeding legislative day. Such motion shall take precedence of all other questions, except a motion to adjourn: And provided, further, that when a bill has passed the House it shall require a constitutional majority to reconsider the vote by which the same was passed.

PRACTICE.

31. The yeas and nays shall be taken on any question upon the demand of five members.

32. Upon the call of the House for the yeas and nays on any question, the names of the members shall be called in alphabetical order.

33. A motion to strike out the enacting words of a bill shall have precedence of a motion to amend, and, if carried, shall be considered equivalent to its rejection.

34. No person shall visit or remain at the Clerk's table while the yeas and nays are being called; and in the performance of their duties, all clerks of the House shall be under the supervision and control of the Speaker.

35. A motion for commitment, until it shall be decided, shall preclude all amendments of the main question.

36. A motion to lay any particular proposition on the table shall apply to that proposition only.

37. No motion or proposition, on a subject different from that under consideration, shall be admitted under color of amendment.

38. Every motion shall be reduced to writing, if the Speaker or any member desires it.

39. When a motion is made, it shall be stated by the Speaker, or if it be in writing, it shall be read aloud by the Clerk, before debate thereon.

40. After a motion is stated by the Speaker, or read by the Clerk, it shall be considered in possession of the House, but may be withdrawn at any time before decision or amendment, by leave of the House.

41. Any member may call for a division of the question, when divisible, but a motion to strike out and insert shall be indivisible.

42. Whenever any member is about to speak in debate or deliver any matter to the House, he shall arise and respectfully address himself to "Mr. Speaker," and confine himself to the question under debate, and avoid personality; and no motion shall be considered in order unless made from the seat occupied by the member.

43. When two or more members rise at once, the Speaker shall name the member who is to speak first.

44. All questions, except as provided in rules 45 and 51, whether in the Committee of the Whole or in the House, shall be disposed of in the order in which they are moved, except that in filling up blanks the largest sum and the most remote day shall be the first put.

45. The rule of proceeding in the House shall be observed in Committee of the Whole, as far as may be applicable.

46. When a committee reports a substitute for an original bill, with the recommendation that the substitute pass, it shall be in order to read the substitute a first time at once.

47. Petitions, memorials, and other papers addressed to the House, may be presented by any member, who shall state briefly to the House the contents thereof, which may be received, read and referred on the same day.

48. No member shall speak longer than thirty minutes at one time, nor more than once on the same question, except by leave of the House, but the member who introduces a measure shall in all cases have the right to close the debate, and this right shall not be denied him even after the previous question has been ordered, although he may have spoken once on the same subject; provided the member so speaking shall not be allowed more time in all than is permitted by the rules of this House to other members.

49. While the Speaker is putting a question or addressing the House, or when a member is speaking, no person shall walk out of or across the room, or pass between the member speaking and the Chair, or entertain private discourse.

50. If any member, in speaking or otherwise, transgress the rules of the House, the Speaker shall, or any member may, call him to order.

51. When a question is under debate, no motion shall be received, but

To fix the time to which to adjourn,

To adjourn,

A call of the House,

To lay on the table,

The previous question,

To commit,

To amend,

To postpone to a day certain,

To postpone indefinitely,

Which several motions shall have precedence in the order in which they are arranged; and no motion

To postpone to a day certain,

To commit, or

To postpone indefinitely,

Being decided, shall be again allowed on the same day or at the same stage of the bill or proposition.

52. The rules of parliamentary practice comprised in Cushing's Manual shall govern the House in all cases to which they are applicable, and in which they are not inconsistent with the standing rules and orders of the House or the joint rules of the Senate and House of Representatives.

53. If a question be lost by adjournment of the House, and revived on the succeeding day, no member who has spoken on the preceding day shall be permitted to speak again on the same question without leave.

54. Any two members shall have the liberty to dissent from and protest in respectful language, against any act or resolution which they shall think injurious to the public or any individual, and have the reasons of their dissent entered upon the journal.

55. Questions shall be distinctly put in this form—viz.: "As many as are of the opinion that"—(as the case may be)—"say 'Aye,'" and, after the affirmative voice is expressed, "As many as are of the contrary opinion, say 'No.'" If the Speaker doubt, or if a division is called for, the House shall divide; those in the affirmative shall first rise from their seats, and afterwards those in the negative.

COMMITTEE OF THE WHOLE HOUSE.

56. In forming a Committee of the Whole House, the Speaker shall leave his chair, and a chairman to preside in the committee shall be appointed by the Speaker.

ADJOURNMENT.

57. The hour at which every motion to adjourn is made shall be entered on the journal.

Ten o'clock in the morning shall be the standing hour to which the House shall adjourn, unless otherwise ordered by a majority vote.

58. A motion to adjourn shall always be in order, and shall be decided without debate, and not be subject to amendment.

DISPENSING WITH, RESCINDING OR CHANGING RULES.

59. No rule shall be dispensed with unless by the concurrence of two-thirds of the members present; nor shall any rule be rescinded or changed without one day's notice being given of the motion thereof; but a new rule, not in conflict with existing rules, may be added, after such notice, by a majority vote.

PREVIOUS QUESTION.

60 The previous question shall be in this form: "Shall the main question be now put?"—and until it is decided shall preclude all amendments or debate. When it is decided that the main question shall not now be put, the main question shall be considered as still remaining under debate.

The effect of the main question being ordered shall be to put an end to all debate, and bring the House to a direct vote—first upon all amendments reported or pending, in the inverse order in which they are offered. After the motion for the previous question has prevailed, it shall not be in order to move a call of the House unless it shall appear by yeas and nays as taken on the main question, that no quorum is present; or to move to adjourn, prior to a decision of the main question.

Provided, If a motion to postpone is pending, the only effect of the previous question shall be to bring the House to a vote upon such motion.

Mr. Pike, of McLean, moved that the rules be printed and placed in the postoffice box of each member of the House, and that the consideration of the same be made a special order for Friday, January 18, 10 o'clock A. M.

Such motion shall take precedence of all other questions, except a motion to adjourn: And provided, further, that when a bill has passed the House it shall require a constitutional majority to reconsider the vote by which the same was passed.

32. Upon the call of the House for the yeas and nays on any question, the names of the members shall be called in alphabetical order.

44. All questions, except as provided in rules 45 and 51, whether in the Committee of the Whole or in the House, shall be disposed of in the order in which they are moved, except that in filling up blanks the largest sum and the most remote day shall be the first put.

45. The rule of proceeding in the House shall be observed in Committee of the Whole, as far as may be applicable.

46. When a committee reports a substitute for an original bill, with the recommendation that the substitute pass, it shall be in order to read the substitute a first time at once.

47. Petitions, memorials, and other papers addressed to the House, may be presented by any member, who shall state briefly to the House the contents thereof, which may be received, read and referred on the same day.

48. No member shall speak longer than thirty minutes at one time, nor more than once on the same question, except by leave of the House, but the member who introduces a measure shall in all cases have the right to close the debate, and this right shall not be denied him even after the previous question has been ordered, although he may have spoken once on the same subject; provided the member so speaking shall not be allowed more time in all than is permitted by the rules of this House to other members.

49. While the Speaker is putting a question or addressing the House, or when a member is speaking, no person shall walk out of or across the room, or pass between the member speaking and the Chair, or entertain private discourse.

53. If a question be lost by adjournment of the House, and revived on the succeeding day, no member who has spoken on the preceding day shall be permitted to speak again on the same question without leave.

54. Any two members shall have the liberty to dissent from and protest in respectful language, against any act or resolution which they shall think injurious to the public or any individual, and have the reasons of their dissent entered upon the journal.

55. Questions shall be distinctly put in this form—viz.: "As many as are of the opinion that"—(as the case may be)—"say 'Aye,'" and, after the affirmative voice is expressed, "As many as are of the contrary opinion, say 'No.'" If the Speaker doubt, or if a division is called for, the House shall divide; those in the affirmative shall first rise from their seats, and afterwards those in the negative.

COMMITTEE OF THE WHOLE HOUSE.

56. In forming a Committee of the Whole House, the Speaker shall leave his chair, and a chairman to preside in the committee shall be appointed by the Speaker.

ADJOURNMENT.

57. The hour at which every motion to adjourn is made shall be entered on the journal.

Ten o'clock in the morning shall be the standing hour to which the House shall adjourn, unless otherwise ordered by a majority vote.

58. A motion to adjourn shall always be in order, and shall be decided without debate, and not be subject to amendment.

DISPENSING WITH, RESCINDING OR CHANGING RULES.

59. No rule shall be dispensed with unless by the concurrence of two-thirds of the members present; nor shall any rule be rescinded or changed without one day's notice being given of the motion thereof; but a new rule, not in conflict with existing rules, may be added, after such notice, by a majority vote.

PREVIOUS QUESTION.

60 The previous question shall be in this form: "Shall the main question be now put?"—and until it is decided shall preclude all amendments or debate. When it is decided that the main question shall not now be put, the main question shall be considered as still remaining under debate.

The effect of the main question being ordered shall be to put an end to all debate, and bring the House to a direct vote—first upon all amendments reported or pending, in the inverse order in which they are offered. After the motion for the previous question has prevailed, it shall not be in order to move a call of the House unless it shall appear by yeas and nays as taken on the main question, that no quorum is present; or to move to adjourn, prior to a decision of the main question.

Provided, If a motion to postpone is pending, the only effect of the previous question shall be to bring the House to a vote upon such motion.

Pending debate, Mr. Mooney, by unanimous consent, offered the following amendment to rule 30:

Add to end of said rule the following proviso:

"And, provided also, when a motion to reconsider the vote by which a bill has passed is made, or a notice is given that such motion will be made within three (3) days of the last legislative day of the session, it will then be in order for any member to move that such motion or notice of motion may be taken up at once and disposed of."

And the amendment was adopted.

Resolved, by the House of Representatives, the Senate concurring therein, That there shall be submitted to the voters of this State at the next election for members of the General Assembly, a proposition to so amend section twenty-eight of article six of the constitution, that the same shall read as follows:

Instead of justices of the peace and police magistrates in cities, villages and incorporated towns containing fifty thousand or more inhabitants, there shall be established a convenient number of district courts. Such courts and the judges thereof shall have the same jurisdiction and powers as justices of the peace, and such further jurisdiction and powers as may be prescribed by the General Assembly. The judges and the clerks of such courts shall be appointed or elected in such manner and for such terms as shall be provided by the General Assembly. All fees shall be accounted for by the respective clerks receiving the same, and paid into their respective city, village or town treasuries monthly.

The salaries of the judges, clerks and deputy clerks shall be fixed by the General Assembly, and paid out of the respective city, village or town treasuries. No salary shall be increased or diminished during the term of office of the officer to whom it is payable. Instead of constables, there shall be a high constable of such city, village or incorporated town, who shall have the right to appoint deputies.

Such high constable shall be appointed or elected, as shall be provided by the General Assembly. He and his deputies shall have the same powers and perform the same duties as constables, with such further powers and duties as shall be prescribed by such General Assembly. No summons, attachment, replevin, or other first process, except in criminal cases issued by any justice of the peace or police magistrate, shall run within the jurisdiction of any such district court.

Until such courts are organized, the justices of the peace, police magistrates and constable heretofore provided for, shall be continued the same as if this article had not been amended.

Resolved, That a committee of five be appointed by the Speaker of the House for the purpose of investigating the management of these institutions; said committee to have power to send for persons and papers, to administer oaths, compel the attendance of witnesses by subpoena signed by the Speaker of this House; and to take the number and size of rooms used for the purposes set forth as above, and recommend such action as they may deem advisable, and generally report to this House any and all information derived in connection therewith; and, be it further

STATE OF ILLINOIS,
EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT,
SPRINGFIELD, February, 8 1889.

To the Honorable, the House of Representatives:

In compliance with the request of the Governor of the State of Kansas, I have the honor to present herewith for your consideration a copy of resolutions recently adopted by the legislature of the State of Kansas concerning an alleged "beef and pork combine."

JOSEPH W. FIFER, Governor.

WHEREAS, In the minds of the stock growers of the State of Kansas, there exists a great distrust as to the intent, purpose and action of an alleged "beef and pork combine," or "trust" so-called; and,

WHEREAS, It is publicly asserted, and generally believed, that such alleged "combine," or "trust" is directly responsible for the present low price of the beef product; and,

WHEREAS, It is claimed that such alleged "combine" or "trust" has exerted a powerful influence towards centralizing the market in Kansas City and Chicago, thereby bringing the beef and pork product of the United States under their absolute control; and,

WHEREAS, The prices now offered for beef, cattle and hogs allow to the producer little, if any, profit, the cost of production equaling the prices allowed and paid by said alleged "combine" or "trust," thereby injuring and destroying one of the greatest industries of the west; and,

WHEREAS, It is urged and desired that the operations, intent and purpose of such alleged "combine" or "trust" should be fully investigated, and such legislation enacted as will tend to protect the stock grower and farmer against the manipulations of such alleged "trust," or if the allegations and charges above set forth are unfounded and do not exist in fact, then, that the public, through such investigation of the matter may be fully advised and informed in the premises; therefore, be it

Resolved, by the Senate of the State of Kansas, the House of Representatives concurring therein, First: That the Governor of the State of Kansas be, and he is hereby requested to correspond with the Governors of interested States with a view to securing joint action of such States in matters of legislation affecting such alleged beef and pork "combine" or "trust" so-called:

That if, in such correspondence, it shall be found expedient, the Governor is further requested to take such steps as will secure a convention of members of the legislature of the several States interested, with a view to securing and the perfection of uniform legislation concerning such "trust" or "combine."

3. That if, in such correspondence, it shall be found that such convention can be held, then the Governor, on behalf of the State of Kansas, is hereby authorized to agree upon a place and time for holding such convention.

4. That in the opinion of the legislature of the State of Kansas, such convention should be composed of three Senators and five members of the House of Representatives from each State, appointed by the respective chief officer of such bodies.

5. That the actual expense and mileage of members composing such convention should be paid by the State appointing the same.

By unanimous consent, Mr. Southworth offered the following resolution, and moved its adoption,

And the motion was lost,

And the resolution of Mr. Pike was, by order of the Speaker, referred to the committee on contingent expenses.

Mr. Haines offered the following report in regard to the public library at Ottawa, which was referred to the committee on contingent expenses:

I am requested to state briefly, the present need of repairs to the state court house and library at Ottawa. The steps and archway, approaches to the building need immediate repair. The roof leaks so badly that water runs through the ceiling to the floor in some of the rooms. The heating apparatus is useless and needs attention; the carpets in some of the rooms are worn out. The library needs additional books and some of the books rebinding for protection. More shelf room is required.

In short, unless some expenditures are made soon in the direction indicated, quite serious loss will result to the public, as well as great inconvenience to the judges and officers of the court attending them.

I suppose it but duty to call attention to the matter, although personally it interests me but little. Please let the fact be known which is all that is desired.

Your friend,

C. W. UPTON.

WHEREAS, We, as a patriotic people, are desirous of teaching all who come among us, as well as the young, to love and cherish the grand principles of a government of the people and by the people; therefore, be it

Resolved, By the House of Representatives, the Senate concurring therein, That the Governor of the State of Illinois be, and is hereby requested to issue his proclamation to the people of the State of Illinois, requesting them that they cease from their labors on April 30, 1889, and celebrate said day in as appropriate manner as opportunity will afford, and that the bells in all the churches and public buildings in the State of Illinois be rung at 9 o'clock A. M. of said day and that the people meet at their usual places of worship, praising Almighty God for His blessings bestowed upon our nation, and imploring a continuation of His mercies to us as a people, and that in the afternoon of said day mass meetings be held in public halls and churches, with services of song and speeches suitable to the occasion.

Mr. Jones offered the following joint resolution:

WHEREAS, The intelligence comes from London, England, that the passage of the coercion act by the British parliament was aided by the employment of forgery, calumny and by conspiracy against the greatest of Ireland's living sons; and,

WHEREAS, Said coercion act in its unjust provisions is a retrogression from the high standard of human thought, action and freedom of the nineteenth century; and,

WHEREAS, The people of Ireland, in their unceasing struggle for home rule, have appealed to the enlightened nations of the world to bear witness to their wrongs and sufferings as the champions of free speech and equal rights; therefore, be it

Resolved, By the House of Representatives, the Senate concurring herein, That the patient dignity, gentle forbearance and unflinching courage with which the Hon. Charles Stewart Parnell has borne himself under a storm of calumny which would have subdued many a brave spirit, and his complete triumph over the conspirators against a struggling nation's rights, entitle him to forever rank among the most sagacious, loyal and unselfish statesmen that ever piloted a country through the sea of turmoil and peril to a haven of honor and safety; be it further

Resolved, That the Hon. William E. Gladstone, by his prolonged efforts to unite the Irish people and gain the hearty and active support of increased numbers of the people of England and Scotland, and his recent public obeisance made to the Irish leader upon the floor of the House of Commons, calls for admiration and approval from every lover of freedom's institutions.

Resolved, further, That we hereby express our condemnation and unqualified disapproval of the policy pursued by the British ministry, as embodied in said coercion act, which is in direct contravention of the progressive spirit of modern times.

Resolved, further, That the act which seals the lips of the Irish people in their struggle for the common cause of humanity, the act which tears the Irish peasant from his humble home to be tried and persecuted among strangers for an alleged offense, is a palpable injustice, a violation of the great principles of Magna Charta, that no man shall be tried except in judgment of his peers, is a crowning disgrace to the civilization of the age, and merits the emphatic disapprobation of all who are imbued with a love for human liberty.

Resolved, further, That the experience of over 700 years of coercion, and the past failure of eighty-six coercion laws enacted by the British parliament, have demonstrated, in the calm judgment of all liberal minded persons, that coercion is not the proper policy to be pursued in the government of the Irish people.

Resolved, further, That Illinois, through her General Assembly, does hereby proffer to the patriotic and chivalrous people of oppressed Ireland her profoundest sympathies with them in their hours of deep distress; and assures them that their continued forbearance and heroic restraint, in the face of the prolonged iniquitous treatment, which is ever more degrading to the oppressor than the oppressed, commands the intensest admiration of every lover of human freedom, of justice and of right.

Resolved, further, That the griefs suffered by the people of Ireland to-day through the inhumanity of British legislation, resemble much the wrongs to which the American colonists were subject over 100 years ago, and this General Assembly sends encouragement, well wishes and God speed to the Hon. William E. Gladstone, and to the Hon. Charles Stewart Parnell in their patriotic zeal and untiring efforts to secure for an oppressed people those political rights and privileges which are the inseparable concomitants of modern civilization; be it further

The report of the committee was adopted, and the bill ordered to its second reading.

The committee on appropriations, to whom was referred House Bill No. 273, being a bill for "An act to make an appropriation to pay Michael F. Bowler eighteen hundred dollars, for damages sustained by reason of the quarantine and slaughter of dairy cows by the board of live stock commissioners," respectfully beg leave to report the same back and recommend that it do not pass.

Thereupon Mr. Lyman presented the following report as a minority report of the committee on appropriations, and moved its substitution for the majority report:

The minority of the committee on appropriations, to whom was referred House Bill No. 273, being an act providing for compensation to Michael F. Bowler for cattle ordered destroyed at Chicago because of alleged infection with pleuro-pneumonia, beg leave to dissent from the majority report of said committee, and in support thereof submit the following as their reasons for such dissent, and respectfully ask the consideration of the House for the same:

First—The minority is advised and believes the truth to be that said bill has been before the committee on claims, and after careful consideration was recommended by said committee favorable to the allowance of said claim.

Second—Under the rules of the House it became necessary to refer said bill to the appropriation committee, because it called for the payment of money out of the State treasury.

Third—It occurs to your minority of the committee on appropriations that when there is a conflict between two committees of this House, one in favor and one against the allowance of a claim, that then such a case presents itself as calls for the House to take the matter up on its own account, that justice may be done and injustice avoided.

Fourth—The minority of the appropriation committee is informed and believes that the cattle of Michael F. Bowler, the claimant in said bill, were appraised at from 17 to 20 dollars per head less than their value at the time of their quarantine.

Fifth—And the minority of the committee on appropriation are informed and believe that the cattle of another person quarantined at the same time as the claimant's cattle, and of no better quality, and not superior in value, were appraised and paid for by the State officers of Illinois at the same time and place at from 17 to 20 dollars per head more than claimant's cattle.

Sixth—For the foregoing reasons the undersigned minority of the committee on appropriations ask that the report of the majority be not concurred in, but that said bill be read a first time.

WM. H. LYMAN,
S. H. MARTIN.

The committee to visit the State charitable institutions made the following report:

SPRINGFIELD, ILLINOIS, March 18, 1889.

To the President of the Senate and the Speaker of the House of Representatives, Thirty-Sixth General Assembly, State of Illinois:

Your committee appointed to visit the State charitable institutions, under an act entitled "An act to provide for the visitation and examination of the State charitable institutions," approved May 31, 1879, members of the General Assembly, to-wit: C. A. Griswold and Andrew J. Reavill, of the Senate; and E. C. Hawley, O. W. Pollard, Royal R. Lacey, Joseph C. Myers and J. W. White, of Tazewell, of the House of Representatives, having performed their duty to the best of their ability, and as fully as the limited time at their disposal permitted, respectfully submit the following report:

ASYLUM FOR FEEBLE-MINDED CHILDREN.

On Thursday, January 31, 1889, the committee visited the asylum for feeble-minded children at Lincoln, Dr. W. B. Fish, superintendent.

The forenoon was spent here. We found the Institution in excellent condition. The management and work exhibited as having been done during the year was highly satisfactory to the committee. The number of inmates was 392; males, 204; females, 188. While the buildings were originally constructed to accommodate only 300, we found 280 applications on file which could not be accommodated for lack of room. The boys are kept in the asylum until the age of 21 years; the girls until homes can be obtained for them. The average improvement is reported to be 20 per cent., and has reached as high as 40 per cent. The different wards were visited, the school rooms and all the departments, which were found in a neat and orderly condition.

The progress and attainments of these unfortunate wards of the State, in the school room and industrial work exhibited as the result of this noble charity, made a deep impression upon the committee, awakening the earnest conviction that the feeble-minded children of the State, by its beneficent care and aid, could, by patient labor and well directed effort, be greatly improved in their mental, moral and physical condition, and trained in industrial pursuits so as to become largely self-supporting.

The institution has now rented 400 acres of land, at a rental of $1,000 per annum, resulting in a net income of $1,012. The clothing, boots and shoes used by the inmates are nearly all made in the institution.

The following appropriations are asked for:

For the erection of a custodial building for females, heating and furnishing the same.....	$40,000
For improvement and repairs per annum, $2000.....	4,000
For improvement of grounds per annum, $500.....	1,000
For electric light plant.....	4,500
For ordinary expenses per annum, $66,000.....	132,000
Total	$181,500

The estimate for ordinary expenses is made upon the per capita cost of the inmates for the past year, which is $181.92, the lowest of any year during its existence.

We have carefully examined these appropriations asked and believe them necessary to meet the needs of the institution, and would recommend their allowance.

THE SOLDIERS' AND SAILORS' ORPHANS' HOME.

The afternoon of January 31, 1889, was spent at Normal visiting the Soldiers' and Sailors' Orphans' Home, Harry C. DeMotte, superintendent. The time was occupied in attendance upon the schools and a thorough inspection of the building. The cheerful, cleanly and intelligent appearance of the children, their orderly manner, good behavior and their aptness and proficiency in study were particularly noted by the committee, meriting their entire approbation. There are 371 children in the home, and 161 applications now on file awaiting admission.

The girls' clothing is made in the institution. The building is crowded beyond its capacity, is without proper ventilation or the necessary appliances for properly providing for the present number of inmates, for their physical care and comfort, and in the requisite number of school rooms for their instruction.

The enlargement of the Home according to the plans shown the committee and meeting their approval, seems a pressing necessity, if the institution is to continue its work and hold its place among the deserving charities of the State.

So far as your committee could observe, it is economically managed, the officers and instructors performing their duty with rare fidelity and regard for the care and future welfare of the children.

The trustees ask for the following appropriations for the Home which the committee would recommend to your generous consideration:

For current expenses per annum, $50,000.....	$100,000
For repairs and improvements.....	5,000
For library.....	500
For new building.....	60,000
	$165,500

THE EASTERN HOSPITAL FOR THE INSANE AT KANKAKEE.

February 1, 1889, your committee visited the Eastern Hospital for the Insane at Kankakee, Dr. R. S. Dewey, Superintendent.

This is the largest hospital in the State, having over 1,600 inmates.

Your committee devoted the day to as thorough examination of the institution in all its departments as their time would permit, and were highly pleased with its plan, arrangement, construction and management.

This is a new hospital built upon the cottage plan, not yet fully completed and furnished, and of larger capacity than originally contemplated. The condition of the grounds and roadways and the unfinished work in painting, protecting steam pipes, improving the land and additional farm buildings required, impressed the committee with the urgent necessity of liberal appropriations to this institution, to utilize and secure the full benefits of previous expenditures in its construction and arrangement for the treatment and custody of the insane. Its success invites a careful consideration to the completion and perfection of the plan of this hospital.

THE EYE AND EAR INFIRMARY AT CHICAGO.

On Sunday, February 3, 1889, your committee visited and examined the eye and ear infirmary at Chicago, E. C. Lawton, superintendent. While fully recognizing the great usefulness and importance of this noble charity, second to none, your committee are of the unanimous opinion, that farther enlargement of the present structure would be unwise and inadequate to the requirements of the institution. We would recommend the sale of the property, which would command a good price for other purposes, and the selection and purchase of a new location with more ground, as near as practicable to the present site, where a suitable and more convenient building could be constructed. The infirmary appears ill-fitted for its present use, and its crowded condition, inconvenient rooms, closets, etc., were not in keeping with other institutions less important.

The institution is a very useful and necessary one, well conducted and managed, and the surgeons who render such valuable and skillful service gratuitously, are deserving of better facilities for their charitable work.

Your committee believe that an application for enlargement should be delayed until a better and more desirable location can be obtained, which calls for immediate action from the State to continue the benefits of this useful charity. The appropriations for current expenses, repairs and maintenance as asked, we would recommend the following, to-wit:

Ordinary expenses, per annum, $27,000.....	$54,000
$1,000 per annum for repairs and improvements.....	2,000
Additional furniture.....	3,000
To 16-foot tubular boilers.....	2,000
Library.....	100

SOLDIERS' AND SAILORS' HOME AT QUINCY.

February 4, 1889, your committee passed at the soldiers' and sailors' home at Quincy, Major J. G. Rowland, superintendent.

This institution is surpassed by none in beauty of location, rendering it capable of becoming in the near future, with taste in laying out and adornment, a beautiful site for a State institution. It was a pleasure to your committee to find the old soldiers and sailors, weather beaten and worn from exposure in the nation's service, so comfortably camped and quartered at the home, and to observe the good management and provisions made for the care and comfort of the old veterans. Fully believing that the federal government should assume the care and support of the invalid and helpless soldier and sailor, yet the failure of the nation to entirely perform that duty renders no less binding the promise of the State at their enlistment, solemnly pledged to care for them and provide for the incidents and accidents which should befall them.

The number present at this date was 790 and more applications than can be accommodated.

Your committee would recommend the following appropriations:

For defraying ordinary expenses, per annum $130,000....	$260,000
Repairs and improvements, per annum $2,500.....	5,000
For two additional cottages, furnished to accommodate 120 persons	24,000

INSTITUTION FOR THE EDUCATION OF THE BLIND AT JACKSONVILLE.

Your committee visited the institution for the education of the blind February 5, 1889, W. S. Phillips, superintendent.

The afternoon was spent at the institution. Number of inmates 171. Males, 97; females, 74. Thirty-nine acres of land.

After the inspection of the various departments and buildings, your committee was conducted to the assembly hall, where the pupils gave an exhibition, showing attainments which called forth much commendation, especially the military drill.

The demand of the institution being comparatively modest, but little discussion was indulged in pertaining to any of the items named in the appropriations asked for.

INSTITUTION FOR THE EDUCATION OF THE DEAF AND DUMB AT JACKSONVILLE.

On Wednesday, the 6th day of February, 1889, your committee visited the Illinois institution for the education of the deaf and dumb at Jacksonville, Dr. Philip G. Gillett, superintendent.

The number of pupils June 30, 1888, as per superintendent's report, was 531. At present the number is 560.

The institution owns forty-six acres of land, and it is the opinion of your committee that more land is necessary for the proper maintenance of said institution.

We were shown about the institution by Dr. Gillett. The first place of interest was the school room, in which we were well pleased. Many of the pupils have reached a degree of proficiency in some of the branches indeed remarkable, and even many who are yet of tender age and have been in attendance but a short time. In fact, their advancement in some of the branches studied will, in our opinion, compare favorably with the generality of children of the same age who have had more than an equal chance of attending our public schools, and possess their natural faculties.

We regard this institution among the most worthy and beneficent charities of the State, which is the largest institution of its kind in the world. Your committee would recommend that the following appropriations be allowed:

Ordinary expenses—per annum, $100,000.....	$200,000
Repairs and improvements—per annum, $2,500.....	5,000
Library—per annum, $500.....	1,000
Extension and improvements of grounds.....	10,000
Extension of electric light plant.....	5,000
Street improvements	6,000
Erection of ice house.....	3,000

SOUTHERN HOSPITAL FOR THE INSANE AT ANNA.

February 7, 1889, your committee visited the southern hospital for the insane, at Anna, under the care of Dr. Horace Wardner, superintendent, which was found in excellent condition. Number of patients, 637.

Your committee would recommend that the following appropriations be allowed:

For ordinary expenses, per annum, $103,500.....	$207,000
For improvements and repairs, per annum, $4,000.....	8,000
For improvement of grounds.....	1,000
For new tower pump and engine.....	7,000
For additional water supply.....	10,000
For new laundry machinery, etc.....	10,000
For completing sidewalk.....	500
For electrical clock and apparatus.....	1,500

Total.....$245,000

CRIMINAL INSANE.

For the care and custody of the criminal insane, your committee would strongly urge the necessity of making separate provisions. The association in the same hospital of non-criminal insane, with insane convicts, is repugnant to our better feelings and should be remedied. The reasons are too obvious and well understood for mention, and the increasing demands for larger accommodations for the insane, is favorable for action in that direction.

The character of this dangerous class still criminals, should be cared for in an asylum specially constructed and adapted to the purpose and "would be a measure of justice, humanity and economy." We therefore recommend an appropriation for the construction of an asylum for the criminal insane as may be hereafter provided for by special act.

Your committee have thus outlined the result of their visit to the State charitable institutions, or rather suggested from their review, the necessary appropriations.

Their visit was alike a duty, a pleasure and a study. The humane and efficient management of the State charities, as seen in their work and results, we heartily commend. The superintendents of the hospitals for the insane are faithful and experienced, combining rare executive and medical ability, and are fully in the advance in the enlightened methods and treatment of the insane. The officers in charge of the other institutions are equally fitted by education and practical training for the special work assigned them, giving to their different departments a standing in successful results second to none in the world.

The State has wisely and humanely provided a munificent system of charities for the unfortunate of every kind within her borders. The numbers in these dependent classes demanding care and treatment, incident to an increase in population and other causes, social, hereditary and the effects of vice, are multiplying, requiring increased provisions and means for their care and support. The hospitals are crowded, and the county infirmaries are full. To meet this want your committee would suggest the addition of new buildings to the present hospitals for the insane, as at Jacksonville, plain in architecture, permanent in construction, and planned for the care and comfort of the large class of incurables. This plan would make provision for those now unprovided for, and be both economical and humane.

To enlarge in this manner the present facilities would meet the exigencies of the case, and insure the greatest good at the least expense. Additions to the northern and southern hospitals with this view are both practicable and feasible.

To care for the dependent is the imperative duty of the State; the neglect, a return to barbarism. The amount required is but a trifle when figured per capita for the population; the good accomplished, beyond computation in dollars and cents. To do good as we have opportunity, give eyes to the blind, ears to the deaf, language to the dumb, "minister to a mind diseased," ameliorate the ills visited upon the children, provide for the orphan, and furnish a home for the invalid and destitute soldier should be your first duty as well as highest pleasure, acting for the people as their representatives of the thirty-sixth General Assembly. In this way will you make enduring their charity, and the grandeur of their benevolence will abide.

Respectfully submitted,

C. A. GRISWOLD, Chairman.

A message from the Governor, by H. G. Reeves, private secretary:

Mr. Speaker: I am directed by the Governor to lay before the House of Representatives the following communication:

STATE OF ILLINOIS, EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT,
SPRINGFIELD, March 22, 1889.

To the Honorable, The House of Representatives:

I have the honor to submit in compliance with your request, a copy of a supplemental report recently made to me by the trustees of the Southern Illinois Hospital for the Insane.

JOSEPH W. FIFER, Governor.

TO JOSEPH W. FIFER, Governor of Illinois.

Sir: In our late report for the biennial period ending June 30, 1888, we referred briefly to the necessity of providing more room for the care of the insane, and to the fact that the demand for additional accommodations is constantly increasing.

Since October 1, 1886, we have been obliged to refuse admission nearly three hundred times for lack of the room to accommodate those applying from our own district.

After further consideration of the matter, we have decided to make a special report in order to call attention to the importance of an early consideration of the subject, and to present the advantages of this locality.

The fact that three hundred unfortunates in our district could not be received here for want of room, is one of the strong arguments in favor of increasing the capacity of this hospital.

A number of the counties border on the Ohio and Mississippi rivers, and are constantly subjected to a fluctuating population, and the presence of many defective and insane persons that wander about or are set adrift to find lodgment on these shores. The result is that these river counties have an insane population far above the average, that has gradually increased the number in the hospitals from most of these counties much in excess of their lawful quota.

In March, 1888, application was made to the secretary of the state board of charities by one of the inland counties for assistance in their efforts to get some patients into the hospital. The county already had more than its statutory quota here. The officer made a new adjustment of space, assigned to each county an equitable number of beds according to population and the capacity of the hospital, and wrote an urgent letter to the superintendent to carry out the suggestion by discharging the surplus number from some of the counties and giving the room to other counties.

To have discharged these patients at once would have imposed hardship, especially on the river counties.

In the hope of bringing about the changes without greatly inconveniencing these counties, the admissions were limited as to the counties having more than the equitable number at the hospital, and patients were received from the counties that were below the number they were entitled to keep.

Notwithstanding our efforts to carry out the directions implied in the letter of the state board of charities in a way that would not cause embarrassment to the counties affected, there followed a good deal of dissatisfaction and complaint from them.

And yet our hospital has been all the time full.

A bed vacated from any cause has been filled at once, and sometimes while yet warm.

The demand for room is pressing, and growing more and more urgent.

If the policy of State care for the insane is continued, as we believe it ought to be, additional accommodations should be provided without delay.

The advance sheets of the forthcoming report of the board of charities show at what rate the number of persons adjudged insane is increasing.

The four State hospitals have accommodations for about 3,700, and it is safe to say there are as many more in the State outside of these hospitals.

What is the most practical and economical way to meet this increasing demand?

Two propositions have been presented, one to build two new hospitals and one to enlarge those already existing.

The economy of these two plans will no doubt be carefully investigated by the present legislature.

Believing as we do, that these wards of the State should be well cared for in the most economical way, and believing that it will be economy to enlarge the hospitals already existing, we present the reasons as we view them, in favor of the one at Anna.

The locality is a healthy one; its varied surface affords the best of drainage; it is three hundred and fifty feet above the Mississippi river, consequently it is above the malarial strata. The climate is mild; there are but few days in the year when patients cannot be out in the open air.

It is near the best coal fields in the State; the necessary fuel can be laid down in front of the boilers at a cost of two dollars per ton.

It is in the midst of an agricultural community where beef and other food products can be obtained at minimum rates.

It is reached by two main lines of railroads, the Illinois Central and the Mobile and Ohio, which have connections reaching all parts of the State.

Heretofore the probability of an occasional failure of the water supply has been a strong objection to the enlargement of this institution.

That problem has now been solved. Since the last report was made we have found an abundance of water.

We found a water bearing strata at a depth of 330 feet and another at about 450 feet.

By actual test, this well was found to furnish 100,000 gallons of water every twenty-four hours. Continuous pumping for several days both day and night had no apparent effect on the supply.

The cost of obtaining a plentiful supply of water in this way will be comparatively small.

These considerations, and the difference in cost of administration between a new hospital and the enlargement of those already existing, lead us to suggest the enlargement of this hospital by the erection of another building that will accommodate 500 patients.

We believe this can be done here in a plain, but substantial manner at a cost of $200,000, or $400 per capita.

And that the same can be furnished with heating apparatus, electric lights, kitchen apparatus, furniture of all kinds, beds and bedding ready for occupation, at a cost of $30,000.

There is an abundance of good building stone on the premises for the purpose, and brick can be made on the ground.

We have in mind a building similar to the one lately constructed at Jacksonville, and should the General Assembly decide to enlarge this institution, we shall be ready to co-operate and push the work as rapidly as possible to completion, for we realize the importance of more room being provided at as early a date as possible.

In our late report we asked for $10,000 for additional water supply. Our good fortune in finding plenty of water renders this amount unnecessary, and the request for the appropriation is hereby withdrawn.

The other items asked for in our report are necessary, and we repeat the requests then made for them.

Signed.

A message from the Senate, by Mr. Parr, assistant secretary:

Mr. Speaker: I am directed to inform the House of Representatives that the Senate has concurred with them in the passage of a bill:

House Bill No. 14, for "An act to provide for pleasure drive-ways in incorporated cities, villages and towns."

Passed the Senate with an emergency clause, by a two thirds vote March 22, 1889.

L. F. WATSON, Secretary of the Senate.

A message from the Governor:

STATE OF ILLINOIS, EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT,
SPRINGFIELD, March 22, 1889.

To the Honorable, the House of Representatives:

I herewith return to you without my approval House Bill No. 232, for "An act to amend section 185 of an act entitled 'An act for the assessment of property and for the levy and collection of taxes,' approved March 30, 1872, in force July 1, 1872, as amended by an act approved May 3, 1873, in force July 1, 1873."

My objections to the bill are as follows:

The bill proposes to amend section 185 of the revenue law so as to provide that applications for judgment and order of sale for taxes and special assessments on delinquent lands shall be made at the June term of the county court instead of the May term as now provided.

By section 5 of an act in relation to county courts, said courts are given jurisdiction of proceedings for the collection of taxes, and such proceedings are considered as probate matters and are cognizable at probate terms.

By virtue of an act establishing probate courts in all counties having a population of 70,000 or more, to define the jurisdiction thereof, and regulate the practice therein, and fix the time of holding the same, as amended by an act approved May 21, 1881, a separate probate court exists in the county of LaSalle. The section defining the jurisdiction of such separate probate courts does not confer upon them jurisdiction of proceedings for the collection of taxes. Such jurisdiction, therefore, remains in the county court of said county.

The terms of the county court of the county of LaSalle as fixed by section 58 of the county court act, are held on the first Mondays of January and March, and the second Monday of May and the first Mondays of September and November.

From the foregoing it will be seen that should this bill become a law, there being no June term of the county court in LaSalle county, the effect would be necessarily to postpone all proceedings for the collection of delinquent taxes in that county until the September term, which would be more than two months after the time fixed by law for the settlement of county collectors with the Auditor. It is plain to be seen that the operation of the proposed law would be seriously to embarrass the people of said county in the collection of their delinquent taxes, and would in a measure affect the people of the entire State.

I am persuaded that had the attention of the legislature been called to these facts, the bill would never have been passed.

JOSEPH W. FIFER, Governor.

The report was laid upon the Speaker's desk for further consideration.

The following communication was then read from the Clerk's desk by order of the Speaker:

To the Honorable, the General Assembly of the State of Illinois:

In accordance with the joint resolution of the Senate and House, instructing the commissioners of the Joliet and Chester penitentiaries "to make investigation as to the cost of the necessary plant for the manufacture of binding twine and the probable cost of production, etc.," the undersigned respectfully report as follows: That one set of machinery for the manufacture of binding twine capable of producing 10,000 pounds per day, or 1,500 tons per year of 300 working days, will cost from $32,000 to $35,000.

The labor necessary to handle this machinery will require the services of seventy-five convicts.

After deducting the cost of maintaining the prisoners engaged in this labor, we estimate that the cost of manufacture will not exceed 1½ cents per pound of twine.

Our estimate for machinery is based upon that which will manufacture twine from manila and sisal, as these fibers are at present almost altogether used in the manufacture of binding twine, and machinery for the manufacture of twine from other fibers—except Kentucky hemp, which is not exclusively produced—is yet in an experimental stage.

As binding twine only finds a market during several of the summer months, if manufacturing is commenced by the State it will be necessary to carry a stock of fibers sufficient to produce the entire product for the next season's sale. The current price in New York city of manila is $13\frac{1}{2}$ cents per pound, and of sisal $11\frac{1}{2}$ cents per pound. From August 1 last, to the present date the average price of manila fiber has been 12 3-10 cents per pound, and the average price of sisal fiber $10\frac{1}{4}$ cents per pound. Basing the price upon these figures the sums necessary to purchase the fibers to meet the capacity of the machinery plant indicated will be, for 1,500,000 pounds of manila, \$184,500; for 1,500,000 pounds of sisal, \$153,750; or a total appropriation including the cost of machinery, of \$373,250.

The machinery plant specified will produce rather less than one third of the amount of twine used each season by the farmers of Illinois.

The manufacture of binding twine at the Joliet penitentiary is not only possible, but feasible, and before commencing its manufacture we only await the necessary appropriation and authority from your honorable body.

Very respectfully,

S. H. JONES,
A. S. WRIGHT,
CHAS. BENT,

Commissioners of the Illinois State Penitentiary at Joliet.

Whereupon Mr. Miller, of Stark, moved that the communication from the commissioners of the Joliet penitentiary be referred to the committee on penitentiaries,

The Speaker laid before the House the following communication, which was referred to the committee on penitentiaries:

To the Honorable, the General Assembly of the State of Illinois:

Gentlemen—In compliance with your joint resolution of the 4th day of April last, requiring the commissioners of the penitentiaries of the State to investigate the question of the feasibility of manufacturing twine for binding wheat inside the penitentiaries of the State, and report thereon to the General Assembly of the State, we would respectfully submit the following report: Lack of time and means has greatly limited us and prevented us from pursuing any extended investigation. There are two twine factories in the State, one at Peoria, which manufactures twine of sisal grass and manila, and one at Champaign, which manufactures twine of hemp. Both of these have been visited in the interest of this investigation.

We have also corresponded with the leading agriculturists of the State, seeking information and suggestions from them. We have communicated with manufacturers of machinery and dealers in raw material, and conversed with such persons as we could meet as had information and were willing to communicate it. Our information is not complete and may not be wholly reliable, but it is all we have been able to obtain, and we are of the opinion it is reasonably correct.

It is due to the proprietors of the factories above mentioned to say that they expressed a willingness and even a desire to impart information, answering all questions fully, freely and frankly; especially was this true of Mr. Martin Kingman, of the Peoria factory, with whom the greater part of the day was spent. He furnished us with the names of manufacturers of machinery and dealers in raw material, opened books and exhibited bills of goods and machinery to our inspection, giving information not otherwise obtainable by us.

We find that the present market price of sisal grass is about 11 cents and manila from 13 to 14 cents per pound. These are combined in about equal parts in the manufacture of binding twine, making the cost of the raw material for this class of twine about 12½ cents per pound. Hemp is somewhat cheaper.

Whether this price is produced by the twine trust, or by the increased demand, or both, we are unable to ascertain. The machinery for manufacturing this twine is complicated and expensive, being covered by patents, and manufactured by but one or two firms in the United States. In fact, the factory at Champaign is now putting in some improved machinery manufactured in Europe. Manufacturers offered to furnish us machinery on the cars in New York for about $7,000 for each ton producing capacity per day. That is to say, the machinery for a factory that would turn out ten tons of twine per day, or 3,600 tons per annum, and give employment to fifty prisoners, would cost, delivered in Illinois, $70,000, plus the freight.

It is estimated that there was used in Illinois more than twice this amount of twine last year. From the above it would seem that a factory containing machinery costing $150,000 and employing 125 convicts, ought to very nearly or quite supply the demand for binding twine in Illinois.

As to the feasibility of starting such a factory in one of the prisons of this State, we do not doubt it can be done. But nothing can be accomplished in time for the present season. Machinery must be manufactured to order; it is not kept in stock; factory buildings must be erected; steam power must be supplied; raw material must be purchased. Skilled mechanics must be found and employed; convicts must be taught the use of the complicated and delicate machinery. All this takes time and money, but so does any other manufacturing industry.

If the prisons of our State can consistently with our amended constitution be employed at any remunerative labor, we do not see why this is not a valuable field toward which to direct that labor.

It is true it can only give employment to a few of the many that will soon be out of employment, but so far as it goes, it will probably conflict less with the skilled mechanics of our State than any other manufacturing industry that can be carried on by the convicts, and if it will so employ them, and at the same time grant any relief to our heavily burdened agricultural interests, it is certainly worthy of a trial.

ISAAC CLEMENTS,
JOHN J. BROWN,
J. B. MESSICK,

Commissioners Southern Illinois Penitentiary.

SECTION 1. The judicial powers, except as in this article is otherwise provided, shall be vested in one supreme court, appellate courts, superior courts, justices of the peace, police magistrates, and such other courts as may be created by law, in and for cities and incorporated towns.

SUPREME COURT.

§ 2. The supreme court shall consist of seven judges, and shall have original jurisdiction in cases relating to the revenue, in mandamus and habeas corpus, and appellate jurisdiction in all other cases. One of said judges shall be chief justice; four shall constitute a quorum, and the concurrence of four shall be necessary to every decision.

§ 3. No person shall be eligible to the office of judge of the supreme court unless he shall be at least thirty years of age, and a citizen of the United States, nor unless he shall have resided in this State five years next preceding his election, and be a resident of the district in which he shall be elected.

§ 4. Terms of the supreme court shall continue to be held in the present grand divisions at the several places now provided for holding the same; and, until otherwise provided by law, one or more terms of said court shall be held for the northern division in the city of Chicago, each year, at such times as said court may appoint, whenever said city or the county of Cook shall appropriate rooms therefor, and the use of a suitable library, without expense to the State. The judicial divisions may be altered, increased or diminished in number, and the times and places for holding said court may be changed by law.

§ 5. The present grand divisions shall be preserved, and be denominated southern, central and northern, until otherwise provided by law. The State shall be divided into seven districts for the elections of judges, and, until otherwise provided by law, they shall remain as now constituted by law. The boundaries of the districts may be changed by the General Assembly; but whenever such alterations shall be made, the same shall be upon the rule of equality of population as nearly as county boundaries will allow, and the districts shall be composed of contiguous counties, in as near y compact form as circumstances will permit. The alteration of districts shall not affect the tenure of office of any judge.

§ 6. The term of office of the judges of the Supreme Court shall be nine years, and on the first Monday of June of the year in which the term of any of the judges now in office shall expire, and every nine years thereafter, there shall be an election for the successor or successors of such judges, in the respective districts wherein the term of such judge shall expire. The chief justice shall continue to act as such until the expiration of the term for which he was elected, after which the judges shall choose one of their number chief justice.

§ 7. The judges of the supreme court shall each receive a salary of five thousand dollars per annum, payable quarterly, until otherwise provided by law. And after said salaries shall be fixed by law, the salaries of the judges in office shall not be increased or diminished during the term for which said judges have been elected.

§ 8. Appeals and writs of error may be taken to the supreme court held in the grand division in which the case is decided, or, by consent of the parties, to any other grand division.

§ 9. The supreme court shall appoint one reporter of its decisions, who shall hold his office for six years, subject to removal by the court.

At the time of the expiration of the terms of office of the present clerk of said court, one clerk of said court for each division shall be elected, whose term of office shall be for six years from said election, and every six years thereafter one clerk of said court for each division shall be elected. No judge of the supreme court shall receive any other compensation, perquisite or benefit in any form whatever, nor perform any other than judicial duties to which belong any emoluments.

APPELLATE COURTS.

§ 11. The inferior appellate courts of this State shall each consist of three judges. Said courts shall be of uniform organization and jurisdiction, and may be created in districts formed for that purpose, to which such appeals and writs of error as the General Assembly may provide, may be prosecuted from superior and other courts, and from which appeals and writs of error shall lie to the supreme court in all criminal cases, and cases in which a franchise, freehold, or the validity of a statute is involved, and in other such cases as may be provided by law. Such appellate courts shall be held at such times and places and in such manner as is now or may hereafter be provided by law.

§ 12. On the first Monday in June, A. D. 1891, and every six years thereafter, there shall be elected one appellate court judge in each of nine districts, to be created by the General Assembly for that purpose, and said judges when elected shall be assigned to duty in said appellate courts as is now or may hereafter be provided by law.

§ 13. The General Assembly, when necessary, may provide for additional appellate courts and or the election of additional judges therefor, and for such purpose may re-district the State into appellate judicial districts, composed of contiguous counties, having due regard to territory and population. One judge shall be elected in each of said districts. Said appellate court judges shall,

§ 15. The terms of the superior court, for the trial of such causes in law and equity as may be submitted without the intervention of a jury, and for the consideration and disposal of all matters of probate, settlement of estates of deceased persons, appointment of guardians and conservators and settlement of their accounts, in all matters relating to apprentices, and in proceedings for the collection of taxes and assessments, and in proceedings by executors, administrators, guardians and conservators for the sale of real estate for purposes authorized by law, shall commence on the first Monday of each and every month during the year: Provided, that two or more of said terms in each year shall be jury terms, and that when three or more judges of the superior court shall have been elected in one county, there shall be held one or more terms in said county, at which three of said judges shall sit en banc and hear and determine, without jury, such causes as may be submitted to them by litigants.

D. 1891, and every six years thereafter. The judges of the superior court shall, until otherwise provided by law, receive a salary of twenty-four hundred dollars per annum, payable quarterly out of the State treasury, and shall receive no other compensation, perquisite or benefit whatsoever, except such further compensation to be paid by their respective counties as may be provided by law. Such compensation shall not be changed during the term of office for which said judge shall have been elected.

The hour of 10 o'clock having arrived, the time heretofore fixed for the consideration of the motion heretofore made to reconsider the vote by which Senate Bill No. 226 failed to pass,

Whereupon the committee appointed to investigate the substance of the bill offered the following report:

To the Honorable Speaker and House of Representatives:

We, the undersigned members of your committee, appointed by resolution, for the purpose of investigation as to the appropriation necessary to be made for the purpose of furnishing the rooms of the appellate court of the first district of the State of Illinois, and as to the rent paid for said rooms, beg leave to report as follows:

That on Monday following our appointment we visited the city of Chicago and made a thorough examination of the furniture and rooms occupied by said court; that we found that substantially the articles of furniture mentioned in the schedule hereto attached are in the rooms of said appellate court and that said furniture is in a fair state of preservation, although it has been used by said court for the four years last past. We would recommend that an appropriation of ten thousand dollars be made to enable the judges of said court to furnish said rooms, as under the law they are permitted to do.

We also report that the rent agreed to be paid, and which has been paid therefor each year, is a reasonable rent for the rooms occupied by said court.

The lease for said rooms was entered into about four years ago and runs for a period of ten years from the date thereof.

Respectfully submitted,

JOHN MEYER,
J. B. CRAIG,
W. G. COCHRAN,

Mr. Enslow offered the following minority report, and moved its adoption:

To the Speaker of the House of Representatives:

The undersigned, being a member of the committee appointed by authority of the House to investigate the furnishing of the appellate court rooms in the city of Chicago and the expenses incurred therein, would respectfully beg leave to report that after a thorough investigation into the various transactions entering into the furnishing of said court rooms, that the parties concerned therein have been and are now attempting to perpetrate a fraud upon the people of this State; and while we believe that the parties should have a fair price for the furnishings of said court rooms, yet we think the amount asked for is exorbitant, and that the sum of seven thousand six hundred and forty dollars ($7,640), together with the sum of two thousand five hundred dollars already received by the parties, is a sufficient sum to compensate said parties for the furnishing of the court rooms aforesaid.

DAVID C. ENSLOW,

Member of said Committee.

The committee to visit educational institutions, offered the following report, which was read:

To the Honorable Speaker of the House of Representatives of the 36th General Assembly of the State of Illinois:

In pursuance of law, your committee appointed to visit the State educational institutions, proceeded to visit the State normal university at Normal, on the 19th day of March. We met with a cordial reception from Dr. Hewitt, the president, and the faculty. This institution was founded by an act of the General Assembly February 18th, 1857. It began operations on the 5th of the next October. Since that time 7,157 students have entered the normal department, and 1,268 of its students are known to have taught in the State during the past year. The committee find the building totally inadequate to accommodate the number of students enrolled.

The school consists of two departments, the normal school proper and the model or training school. By the terms of the charter, this last department must be self sustaining. The model school is intended to illustrate in its organization a complete graded school, from and including the high school down to the primary department. It furnishes the workshop, wherein the pupil-teachers of the normal school are trained in the actual work of teaching. In the assembly room of the normal department there are 370 desks and room for no more. There are at present 457 students enrolled in that department, or 87 more than the seating capacity can accommodate. In the high school room there are at present 72 desks and 135 pupils. In the grammar room there are 140 desks and 152 pupils. In order to handle all of these pupils, every nook and corner of the building is utilized, classes being heard in the halls and in the half-lighted basement.

Your committee, therefore, recommend that an appropriation be made for the purpose of building an addition to the present institution or erecting another building for class purposes. The boilers used in heating the building are in the basement, whereas they should be located in a separate building, and an appropriation to build a boiler house should be granted, in our opinion.

Your committee further reports that on the 20th day of March, 1889, they visited the university of Illinois, located at Champaign. In the judgment of your committee, this is one of the most important institutions in the State, and one whose value is not appreciated by those who are not familiar with its workings. The practical application of knowledge is of as much importance as the knowledge itself. The value of this institution to the State lies in that the theoretical knowledge sought to be inculcated is everywhere supplemented by the practical application of that knowledge. The large farm gives ample opportunity for instruction and experimental work in agriculture and horticulture. The mechanical department, including five different shops, where pattern making, blacksmithing, foundry work, bench work, for iron and wood work of all kinds, are taught, furnishes abundant exercise and trains the hand and eye as well as the mind. The upper part of the mechanical building is now used as a drill hall for the cadets. The entire building is needed for the workshops, and your committee recommend that the appropriation asked for a new drill hall be granted, in order that the entire building may be used for the enlargement of the mechanical department.

The main building, including the museum of zoölogy and geology, the library and art hall, are in excellent condition. Your committee are pleased to report that the school appears to be well equipped with appliances and apparatus, and that the faculty is composed of earnest and faithful teachers.

Not until the 19th day of April were your committee enabled to visit the normal school at Carbondale. The school building is a model for the purpose for which it is intended. The halls are wide and the rooms spacious. There is at present ample room to accommodate all who are in attendance. The venerable President, Dr. Allyn, devoted the entire day to your committee, and they were able to see the workings of the school in every department. After carefully examining the work done, your committee are unanimous in declaring that the southern normal school is doing a grand work for the schools of that part of the State, and should receive the encouragement and support of the General Assembly.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

JOHN CARSTENS, Chairman.

CHARLES A. ALLEN,

E. A. DOOLITTLE,

H. C. GREGG.

Amend by striking out all after the enacting words and inserting in lieu thereof the following words and figures: "That for the purpose of making provision for the care of nine hundred additional patients in the hospitals for the insane of this State, there be and is hereby appropriated to the northern hospital for the insane at Elgin, one hundred and twenty thousand dollars ($120,000); to the central hospital for the insane, at Jacksonville, one hundred and twenty thousand dollars ($120,000); and to the southern hospital for the insane, at Anna, one hundred and twenty thousand dollars ($120,000), or so much of said sums as may be necessary, out of any moneys in the State treasury not otherwise appropriated, to be expended as hereinafter directed.

"§ 2. The sums herein appropriated shall be in full for the erection, completion, furnishing, heating, lighting, and preparing for use and occupancy, at each of the hospitals named, by not less than three hundred patients, together with the necessary officers, attendants and employés for their proper care, of one or more buildings, which may, at the discretion of the trustees, be detached from the present structures and from each other, but no plans shall be adopted or executed which involve the expenditure for this purpose of a sum greater than the amount herein appropriated, and in case the present appropriation for each of said hospitals for the insane shall prove insufficient to accomplish fully the end sought in this act, then no portion of the same shall be drawn from the treasury of the State.

"§ 3. The trustees of each of said hospitals shall, immediately upon the taking effect of this act, cause plans and specifications to be prepared for the construction and completion of said additional buildings, or the superintendents of the said hospitals under the direction of the boards of trustees, may procure plans and have general charge and supervision of the work of contracting and finishing these additions.

"§ 4. The moneys herein appropriated shall be paid only on the terms and in the manner now provided by law.

"§ 5. From and after the taking effect of this act, the State commissioners of public charities shall have power to divide the State into districts, for the purpose of regulating the admission of patients into the State hospitals for the insane, and to fix the quota of each county therein, so as to secure equality among the counties, and to promote their convenience in this regard. And the said commissioners shall have power to change the boundaries of said districts, from time to time, as may be necessary or expedient: Provided, that any regulations which they may make on this subject shall not have the force of law until after they shall have been submitted to the Governor and approved by him: And, provided, further, that the Governor shall cause to be printed, and distributed to the counties to be affected thereby, a sufficient number of copies of the schedule of districts and quotas approved by him.

“§ 6. The State commissioners of public charities shall cause such transfers of patients to be made between the several hospitals for the insane in this State as shall be necessary to adjust the population of said hospitals to the districts assigned them: Provided, that a reasonable time shall be allowed for such adjustment: And, provided, further, that the cost of such transfers shall be charged to the counties or individuals, as the case may be, affected thereby, and shall be collected as other debts due the State hospitals are collected by law.

“§ 7. The county board or boards of supervisors, as the case may be, of any county from which there are or hereafter may be patients committed as paupers to any of the State hospitals for the insane is hereby directed and required to make settlement in full as often as once in every six (6) months, for all just charges for clothing and other proper incidental expenses, and to pay the amount due said hospitals in money or negotiable paper worth its face without discount. In case any county shall fail or refuse to pay any just and reasonable account presented by any of the State hospitals for the insane, and the same shall remain unpaid for one year after it is due, then the trustees of the said hospital shall apply to the circuit court in and for the said delinquent county for a writ of mandamus upon the county treasurer of said county requiring him to pay the said overdue account, and upon proof made of the justice of such claim, the circuit court shall issue such writ.

“§ 8. An act entitled “An act to secure equality among the counties in the matter of the admission of patients into the State hospitals for the insane, and to provide for the transfer of patients from one hospital to another, and for settlement with such hospitals by the counties, and to repeal former acts upon the same subject, approved May 28, 1881, and in force July 1, 1881, is hereby repealed.”

Your committee appointed to visit the penal and reformatory institutions under an act entitled "An act to provide for the visitation and examination of our penal and reformatory institutions, approved May 31, 1879." Members of the General Assembly, to-wit: John Yost and A. M. Strattan, of the Senate, and J. A. Combs, B. H. Bradshaw, J. W. Hunter, J. M. Getman and W. G. Delashmutt, of the House of Representatives, having performed their duty to the best of their ability, and as full as their limited time would permit, respectfully submit the following report:

CHESTER.

Saturday and Sunday April 6 and 7, 1889, we visited the southern penitentiary at Chester. We found E. J. Murphey in charge as warden. After a thorough and careful examination, we find the same in good order, excellently managed, and under good discipline. The central part and north wing of the prison are completed and occupied. The south wing is now in process of erection. All of the buildings now completed seem to be well adapted to the purpose for which they were built. The cell-house is large, well ventilated, and the cells roomy and comfortable. The sanitary condition could not be excelled. Out of over 700 inmates we found only 7 in the hospital, and three or four of these were sick when admitted. In our judgment the prison needs a new detached building for hospital purposes. At present the hospital is in the upper story of a building, situated near the foundry, and occupied on the lower floor by the laundry and bath room. In summer when it is necessary to keep the windows open for the purpose of ventilation, the hot air and steam from below, taken together with the foul air and gases from the foundry, freely float in at the open windows, to the serious detriment and injury of the sick inmates. We found the prisoners well clothed and reasonably well fed; but as to the matter of diet we would recommend that more meat be provided men who are employed at hard labor. Warden Murphey, though so recently installed, showed himself equal to the occasion in the discharge of his responsible duties. The worthy chaplain we found carefully looking after the moral, religious and intellectual development of the prisoners. We found most of the convicts employed on contract, 225 of whose time of contract will expire July 11, 1890. How these can best be profitably employed thereafter should be a matter of early consideration. The prison officials are trying to find employment as best they can for those whose time of contract has already expired. Many of such are already employed making brick, the machinery for which purpose is of the latest and most approved pattern, and is owned by the State. The brick made is of a very superior quality, and aside from the poor shipping facilities, nothing is to hinder this being made a steady and profitable business. The amount asked for by the board for repairs, new machinery, etc., we find reasonable and very necessary. We are of the opinion that provision should be made for the criminally insane, so that they would not come in contact with the ordinary insane. We gave the subject an investigation, and procured a diagram of a building for this purpose from the prison engineer. The building is to accommodate 100 patients, to be made 800 to 1,200 feet from the other buildings, but near enough to be heated by the prison furnace. With the stone and brick on the ground, together with convict labor, his estimate that a building with the above advantages which would otherwise cost $100,000 could be built here for $63,000, including the keeping of the convicts while at work.

JOLIET.

On Friday, Saturday and Sunday, April 19, 20 and 21, your committee visited the Joliet penitentiary. On our arrival we were met by the warden and commissioners who gave us every opportunity to make a thorough investigation of the premises within the prison walls. We found here about 1,400 prisoners, 23 of whom were females. We found the prisoners well cared for, well clothed and well fed. The male prisoners, except those employed in the warden house, are working under State contract, dating prior to the enactment of the recent constitutional amendment, and whose terms will not expire until 1892. We find the plants and machinery in operation here belonging to the contractors. We find that the amounts asked for by the prison officials for repairs and contingent expenses very reasonable, and recommend that the same be allowed. Should the State in the near future decide to buy the necessary machinery and raw material to manufacture binding twine in one of the prisons, it would, we think, come in contact with free labor less than any other employment that could be operated by the convicts. We find the sanitary condition of the prison in excellent condition, only 15 out of 1,400 in the hospital. The moral and intellectual needs of the prisoners is not overlooked; but on the other hand receives careful attention. There being so few female convicts in the two prisons, we would suggest that they be confined at one place, those now at Chester be transferred to Joliet, and those hereafter convicted be sent to Joliet.

PONTIAC REFORM SCHOOL.

On Sunday evening and Monday, April 21st and 22d, we visited the reform school for boys at Pontiac, where we were met by Dr. Scouller, superintendent of the institution, and his corps of able assistants, who afforded us every facility for a thorough examination of the institution. We found the buildings and grounds in excellent shape and the best of discipline prevailed throughout the institution. The boys were kept neat and clean, and in every respect well cared for. A certain portion of each day is set apart for a regular day school where the boys have every facility for acquiring a common school education. The workshops were a model of neatness and order. The work carried on was principally the manufacture of shoes. We carefully inspected their work and find it of a high degree of proficiency. The moral and religious training of the boys is of the highest order, and apparently appreciated by most of them. The sanitary condition of this, like the other institutions mentioned, is good; but little sickness of a serious nature prevailing. We learned that very many of the former inmates of this institution are leading honest and upright lives, thus becoming useful members of society. There is 278 acres of land belonging to this institution, most of it used for farming and pasture. We did not have time to go over the farm; but from what we could learn, it is successfully managed. The appropriations asked for to carry on the work for the ensuing two years we heartily endorse.

Respectfully submitted,

J. A. COMBS,
B. H. BRADSHAW,
J. W. HUNTER,
J. M. GETMAN,
W. G. DELASHMUTT.

After such determination by said commissioners, or a majority of them, the county judge shall submit to the legal voters of the proposed sanitary district the question of the organization and establishment of the proposed sanitary district, as determined by said commissioners at an election to be held on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November thence next ensuing, notice whereof shall be given by said commissioners, at least twenty days prior thereto, by publication in one or more daily papers published within such proposed sanitary district—such notice to specify briefly the purpose of such election, with a description of such proposed district. The said commissioners shall within ten days after such appointment meet at the city of Chicago, and shall appoint a competent civil engineer, and they may employ such other assistance as they may require to expeditiously perform their duties. The said commission shall take as their datum line for the survey the datum established by the Illinois and Michigan canal trustees in 1847, and shall make such examination and surveys of Chicago river and of the channel or channels authorized by this act as shall enable them to ascertain whether said channel is of the character and capacity required by this act, and, in case they shall find the work in all respects in accordance with the provisions of section 23 of this act, they shall so certify to the Governor, who shall thereupon authorize the water and sewage to be let into said channel. And in case of said court, upon hearing, shall determine that said channel is not constructed in accordance with the provisions of this act, said injunction shall be continued until the provisions of this act shall have been fully complied with.

"Such commissioners and engineer shall receive for their services ten dollars per day, and their reasonable expenses and outlays for the time by them necessarily employed in the discharge of their duties, which shall be paid to them from the State treasury, and the said sanitary district shall reimburse the State for all expenses and disbursements on account of said commission.

"If any channel is constructed under the provisions of this act, which shall discharge the sewage of a population of more than 300,000 into or through any river beyond or without the limits of the district constructing it, the same shall be constructed in accordance with the provisions of section 23 of this act, and if any such channel receives its supply of water from any river or channel connecting with Lake Michigan, it shall be construed as receiving its supply of waters from Lake Michigan."

Amend by striking out that portion of the amended bill, after the word "rivers," in the first committee amendment.

Amend section 8, by inserting after the word "purposes," in line 4, printed bill, the following: "Provided, all money for the purchase and condemnation of any property shall be paid before possession is taken, or any work done on the premises damaged by the construction of such channel or outlet, and in case of an appeal from the county court taken by either party, whereby the amount of damages is not finally determined, the amount of judgment in such court shall be deposited at some bank to be designated by the judge thereof, subject to the payment of such damages or orders signed by such county judge, whenever the amount of damages is finally determined."

Amend section 17, by inserting in line 14, printed bill, after the word "therein,"—"and only under the direction and supervision of the canal commissioners."

Amend by inserting after the word "channel" in section 7, line 15 of printed bill, the following: "Provided, however, nothing in this act shall be construed to abridge or prevent the State from hereafter requiring a portion of the funds derived from such water power, dockage or wharfage to be paid into the State Treasury to be used in State purposes."

Amend section 11, of printed bill, by adding the following words: "Provided, no person shall be employed on said work unless he be a citizen of the United States or have in good faith declared his intentions to become such citizen. In all cases where an alien, after filing his declaration of intentions to become a citizen of the United States shall for the space of three months after he could lawfully do so, fail to take out his final papers and complete his citizenship, such failure shall be prima facie evidence that his declaration of intentions were not made in good faith; and that eight hours shall constitute a day's work."

Amend by adding after the 14th amendment to the bill: "And the canal commissioners, if they shall find at any time that an additional supply of water has been added to either of said rivers, by any drainage district or districts, to maintain a depth of not less than six feet from any dam owned by the State and into the first lock of the Illinois and Michigan canal at LaSalle, without the aid of any such dam, at low water, then it shall be the duty of said canal commissioners to cause such dam or dams to be removed."

Amend by striking out the words "of" and "capacity," in line nine, of section twenty-three, of printed bill.

Amend by striking out the word "or," before the word "one." in line 106, of section 27, of printed bill, and insert the word "and" in lieu thereof.

Amend section 19, of printed bill, by striking out the word "or," in line three thereof, and inserting after the word "enlargement." in said line, the words "or use."

And in case of said court, upon hearing, shall determine that said channel is not constructed in accordance with the provisions of this act, said injunction shall be continued until the provisions of this act shall have been fully complied with.

In all cases where an alien, after filing his declaration of intentions to become a citizen of the United States shall for the space of three months after he could lawfully do so, fail to take out his final papers and complete his citizenship, such failure shall be prima facie evidence that his declaration of intentions was not made in good faith; and that eight hours shall constitute a day's work."

Amend by adding after the 14th amendment to the bill: "And the canal commissioners, if they shall find at any time that an additional supply of water has been added to either of said rivers, by any drainage district or districts, to maintain a depth of not less than six feet from any dam owned by the State to and into the first lock of the Illinois and Michigan canal at LaSalle, without the aid of any such dam, at low water, then it shall be the duty of said canal commissioners to cause such dam or dams to be removed."

That every person having under his control a child between the ages of seven and fourteen years, shall annually cause such child to attend for at least sixteen weeks, at least eight weeks of which attendance shall be consecutive, some public day school in the city, town or district in which he resides, which time shall commence with the beginning of the first term of the school year, or as soon thereafter as due notice shall be served upon the person having such control, of his duty under this act. For every neglect of such duty, the person offending shall forfeit to the use of the public schools of such city or district a sum not less than one nor more than twenty dollars, and shall stand committed until such fine and costs of suit are paid. But if the person so neglecting shall show to the satisfaction of the board of education or of directors that such child has attended for a like period of time a private day school, approved by the board of education or directors of the city, town or district in which such child resides, or that instruction has otherwise been given for a like period of time to such child in the branches commonly taught in the public school, or that such child has already acquired the branches of learning taught in the public schools, or that his physical or mental condition as declared by a competent physician is such as to render such attendance inexpedient and impracticable, then such penalty shall not be incurred. Such fine shall be paid when collected to the school treasurer of such city or township to be accounted for by him as other school money raised for school purposes. But no school shall be regarded as a school under this act unless there shall be taught therein, in the English language, reading, writing, arithmetic, history of the United States and geography.

“§ 2. It shall be the duty of the board of education in every city and the board of school directors in every school district to appoint one or more truant officers, whose duty it shall be carefully to inquire concerning all supposed violations of this act, and to enter complaint against all persons who shall appear to be guilty of such violation. It shall also be the duty of said officer to arrest children of a school-going age who habitually haunt public places, and have no lawful occupation, and also truant children who absent themselves from school without leave, and to place them in charge of the teacher having charge of the public school which the said children are by law entitled to attend. And it shall be the duty of said teacher to assign said children to the proper class, and to instruct them in such studies as they are fitted to pursue. Said truant officers shall have such compensation for services rendered under this act as shall be determined by the board of education or the board of directors appointing such officer, which compensation shall be paid from the distributable school fund.

“§ 3. Any person having control of a child who with intent to evade the provisions of this act, shall make a willful false statement concerning the age of such child, or the time such child has attended school, shall, for such offense, forfeit a sum of not less than $3 nor more than $20, for the use of the public schools of such city or district.

“§ 4. Prosecution under this act shall be instituted and carried on by the authorities of such boards, and be brought in the name of The People of the State of Illinois, for the use of the school fund of said city or township.

“§ 5. Police, municipal court, justices of the peace and judges of the county court shall have jurisdiction within their respective counties of the offense described in this act.

Mr. McDowell, chairman of the committee to visit the soldiers' and sailors' home, at Quincy, and the Illinois orphans' home, at Normal, made the following report:

To the Honorable J. H. Miller, Speaker of the House of Representatives of the 36th General Assembly:

Your committee appointed to visit the soldiers' and sailors' home at Quincy, Illinois, and the Illinois soldiers' orphans' home at Normal, beg leave to report as follows:

On the 29th day of March, 1889, we visited the soldiers' and sailors' home at Quincy. A thorough examination of the grounds and buildings was made by the committee, and they were found in excellent order, but the buildings were not adequate to the needs of the institution. Nearly 900 old soldiers and sailors were quartered in the home. They appeared to be well cared for in every particular. No complaints of any kind were made by them, and we have no recommendations to make in regard to the better management of the home, feeling that the present management is as perfect as is possible under the limited means and accommodations furnished by the State. We learned that a large number of worthy old defenders of our country and its honor have made applications for admission, which cannot be granted, owing to the want of room for them. The addition of a new cottage will, we think, furnish the necessary accommodations for the next two years for those now in the institution, but no room for those who may apply in the future.

We further report that on the 18th inst. we visited the Illinois soldiers' orphans' home, at Normal. We were exceedingly gratified with the evident good the institution is accomplishing. Its management is conducted on the plan of a large family, and the relation and affection usually existing between parents and children is practiced in this admirable institution to its fullest extent. The government is kind and wholesome, and the children were comfortably clad, and gave every evidence of happiness. In one small building we found 360 children, ranging from two to fourteen years of age. The dormitories are packed to their utmost capacity. Rooms built to accommodate four or five beds have in them a dozen; and some of the beds were occupied by three children. We would respectfully urge upon the attention of the General Assembly the necessity of enlarging the building or the erection of new buildings, so as to accommodate the present occupants, and provide for those who are entitled to admittance thereto. We learned that there are now on file in the office of the superintendent 200 applications for admittance which cannot be granted. In our opinion the grounds and buildings are entirely too small for the needs of the institution. Your committee feel that these are two very important institutions of the State, and that they should be generously maintained by the General Assembly, that no false ideas of economy should be permitted to interfere with their efficiency. They are institutions in which every philanthropist, as well as every veteran, should feel a deep and abiding interest.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

A message from the Governor, by H. G. Reeves, private secretary:

Mr. Speaker: I am directed by the Governor to lay before the House of Representatives the following communication:

STATE OF ILLINOIS, EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT,
SPRINGFIELD, May 27, 1889.

To the Honorable, the House of Representatives:

I have the honor to submit to the General Assembly for its consideration the following copies of letters received by me relating to a claim this State has on the federal government.

JOSEPH W. FIFER, Governor.

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 8, 1889.

SIR: I have your favor of the 16th ultimo informing me that a letter of mine to Senator Cullom, dated March 14th, had been forwarded to you by him, and requesting more specific information of me concerning its subject matter, namely the portion of the five per cent. fund which is withheld from the State of Illinois. You are aware that when the territory of Orleans was admitted into the union under the name of Louisiana, she was given five per cent. of the net proceeds of the sales of public lands within her boundaries to be applied by her to certain public improvements; you are also aware that when Illinois was admitted into the union a corresponding provision was incorporated within her act of admission. Three per cent of this amount has, from time time, been paid to Illinois, but the remaining two per cent. has been withheld ostensibly on account of the Cumberland Gap road. The withholding of this two per cent. was an executive act without authority of legislation, and though the act of 1857 required the secretary of the interior to state an account with all of the other States which were given this five per cent. by statute, in the same manner that the act of 1855 required an account stated with the States of Alabama and Mississippi, yet this has never been done, and there is now due to the State of Illinois $475,163.56, and it is this fund which I propose to collect.

I would have answered your letter more promptly but I have been absent from the city during a portion of the time since it was received and it required several days' examination of records and a considerable amount of calculation to ascertain the amount due.

I have the honor to be yours with great respect,

WM. E. EARLE.

To his excellency,

JOSEPH W. FIFER, Governor of the State of Illinois.

WASHINGTON, D. C. May 25, 1889.

DEAR SIR: On May 8th I wrote you in answer to your letter of April 16th concerning the unpaid portion of the five per cent. fund due to your State. As I have not heard from you since then I presume that the information I gave you was what you desired. The case of your State is very similar to that of the State of Ohio, and the amounts due them are very nearly the same. I have been employed in the Ohio case, and am now engaged in preparing the same for trial, and it would be very advantageous to both cases that they should be taken up and carried along together.

This matter was brought to your attention by Senator Cullom forwarding you some letters which I wrote him on the subject. I may refer you also to Judge Lawrence Weldon, of the court of claims, or any of the judges of that court, or the justices of the supreme court of the United States.

Yours very respectfully,

WM. E. EARLE.

HON. JOSEPH W. FIFER, Governor of Illinois.

A message from the Senate, by Mr. F. H. Guffin, assistant secretary:

Mr. Speaker: I am directed to inform the House of Representatives that the Senate has adopted the following preamble and joint resolution, in the adoption of which I am instructed to ask the concurrence of the House of Representatives, to-wit:

WHEREAS, The Illinois river from LaSalle to Grafton is the remnant of an ancient stream bed, bordered by wide and low bottom lands, much cut up by lake, bayou and marsh, an alluvial stream of small, low water volume and sluggish current, with a declivity of only 26 feet in 225 miles, a declivity so small as to require a large volume of water to maintain an effective channel, a stream which, in its natural condition, is able to maintain but a small depth through the deposits with which the tributaries constantly tend to choke the channel, a tendency ever increasing with the inhabitation of the watershed and the cultivation and reclamation of lands.

WHEREAS, The erection of dams with a view to the creation of pools of slack water for the purpose of navigation diminishes the scouring force of the current at medium and low stages and promotes channel decay, causes deposits in the mouths of tributaries and the more ready overflow of the bottom lands, and generally the tendency is to restore the natural channel of equilibrium at a higher level with great ultimate injury to the valley from overflow and unhealthfulness, a tendency already exhibited in a notable degree from the conditions created by the dams erected by the State at Henry and Copperas creek in 1872 and in 1877 respectively,

WHEREAS, The completion by the United States of the dams at LaGrange and Kampsville will raise the general level of the river below Copperas creek by several feet, and promote all those injurious tendencies to channel decay with overflow and unhealthfulness, already exhibited through the agency of the State works at Henry and Copperas creek;

WHEREAS, The official report of the United States for 1868 showed that it was practicable to obtain by dredging and a minimum low water volume at Peru of 38,000 cubic feet per minute a channel for navigation of a width of 160 feet and a depth exceeding four feet, and the official report for 1880 showed that it was practicable to obtain a channel for navigation 200 feet wide and 6 feet deep by dredging and a minimum flow of 94,000 cubic feet per minute in the river below Copperas creek, and that the cost was not materially different from the cost of the improvement by locks and dams;

WHEREAS, The present addition to the low water volume of the Illinois river through the summit level of the Illinois and Michigan canal from Lake Michigan more than doubles the volume of water used in the estimate of 1868 for the channel below Peru and adds fifty per cent. to the volume used in the estimate of 1880 for the channel below Copperas creek, and said contribution from Lake Michigan will be increased in the immediate future, thus enabling the depth now projected for navigation below Peru to be obtained by channel improvement at moderate cost and with decided advantage to material interests and to healthfulness along the valley;

WHEREAS, It is contemplated to increase the volume from Lake Michigan to 300,000 cubic feet per minute within a few years, and ultimately to add 600,000 cubic feet or more, thus enabling a large depth for navigation to be obtained by an improved channel, and that said channel will be self sustaining and self improving, and will discharge flood waters more readily and thus benefiting the bordering lands and increasing the healthfulness of the valley;

WHEREAS, Works now projected by the city of Chicago will form part of a waterway of large proportions from Lake Michigan via the Desplaines and Illinois rivers to the Mississippi river, of which the dams and locks upon the alluvial section of the Illinois river can form no part, and which, if allowed to remain, will increase overflow and be detrimental to the welfare of the Illinois valley and the interests of the State; therefore be it

Resolved by the Senate, the House of Representatives concurring herein: 1. That it is the policy of the State of Illinois to procure the construction of a waterway of the greatest practicable depth and usefulness for navigation from Lake Michigan via the Desplaines and Illinois rivers to the Mississippi river and to encourage the construction of feeders thereto of like proportions and usefulness.

2. That the United States is hereby requested to stop work upon the locks and dams at LaGrange and Kampsville, and to apply all funds available and future appropriations to the improvement of the channel from LaSalle to the mouth, with a view to such a depth as will be of present utility and in such manner as to develop progressively all the depth practicable by the aid of a large water supply from Lake Michigan, at Chicago.

3. That the United States is requested to aid in the construction of a channel not less than 160 feet wide and 22 feet deep, with such a grade as to give a velocity of three miles per hour from Lake Michigan at Chicago, to Lake Joliet, a pool of the Desplaines river immediately below Joliet, and to project a channel of similar capacity and not less than 14 feet deep, from Lake Joliet to LaSalle, all to be designed in such manner as to permit future development to a greater capacity.

Adopted by the Senate May 27, 1889.

WHEREAS, On page 19, Auditor's report, shows that $4,618.05 added to $2,618.05 is only $1,400.12, and page 39 a total expenditure of $312,866.56 for a standing army in times of peace, and the items of expense are so scattered in said report that it cannot be understood without great study and labor;

Resolved, That a committee of nine (9) be appointed by the Speaker to investigate the apparent mistakes in the Auditor's report, and to so compile the cost of transportation that it may be understood by the taxpayers, and to make a full and exact statement.

Resolved, That the committee on military affairs shall have full authority to make the investigation of all matters in the resolution as shall come to the attention of said committee in relation to the expenses of the State militia.

To the Hon. James H. Miller, Speaker of the House of Representatives of the Thirty-sixth General Assembly of the State of Illinois:

We, committee on military affairs, to whom was referred the resolution introduced by Mr. Browne, of LaSalle, for an investigation of the expenses of the military department of this State, desire to submit the following report:

The committee and a sub-committee from the whole committee met a number of times, four (4) in all, and invited Mr. Browne to appear before them with any evidence he might have covering any points contained in the Auditor's report, or in connection with the management of the military affairs of the State; but he failed to produce anything as evidence on which we could form a report, and as the resolution vested the committee with no authority to either summon witnesses or create any expense, we have been unable to pursue the investigation further than what is contained in the Auditor's and Adjutant General's reports, which are open to the inspection of everybody. All of which is respectfully submitted.

JAMES N. BUCHANAN, Chairman.

The question being, "Shall the report of the committee on military affairs be adopted?" it was decided in the affirmative.

To the Honorable, the Speaker of the House of Representatives of the Thirty-sixth General Assembly of the State of Illinois:

Sir: We herewith submit our report on the resolution offered by the honorable representative from Marion county, on the 30th day of January, 1889, asking that a committee be appointed by the Speaker of the House for the purpose of investigating the management of the State institutions, to find out the facts in regard to complaints which have been made by divers and sundry persons, taxpayers of the State of Illinois, that much of the space of the existing charitable institutions has been and is being used by the officers, their families, and visitors, for unwarranted and unnecessary entertainment, at the expense of the State, thus diverting the apartments and space so used from their legitimate purpose, which was referred to the committee on State institutions for the purpose of finding out the facts in regard to the above resolution.

Early in the session we visited all the charitable institutions of the State, eleven in number—the northern hospital for the insane at Elgin, the central hospital for the insane at Jacksonville, the eastern hospital for the insane at Kankakee, and the southern hospital for the insane at Anna; also, the asylum for feeble-minded children at Lincoln, the soldiers' orphans' home at Normal, the eye and ear infirmary at Chicago, the soldiers' home at Quincy, the reform school at Pontiac, the institution for the deaf and dumb, and the institution for the blind at Jacksonville.

We are entirely satisfied that no unnecessary room is used by the officers for their families or to entertain the public in any of the seven institutions last named. In regard to the other four we are free to say that an honest difference of opinion may be entertained in regard to the necessity for so large space occupied by hallways, thereby taking up some room that otherwise might have been given to inmates. This fault, if so it may be termed, is chargeable to the architecture of the buildings, and not to the present management. We find that no space is used by the superintendents or officers of these hospitals for unwarranted and unnecessary entertainments or purposes, but that the space in such hospitals is used judiciously and economically, and that the management of all of such hospitals is such as to make them an honor to the State of Illinois.

At the hour of 11 o'clock A. M., the committee of the whole House was called to order by its chairman, Mr. E. J. Whitehead.

The committee was addressed by the Hon. John M. Jewett, of Chicago.

The resolution, as follows, was then read:

WHEREAS, The provisions of the present constitution of the State of Illinois are too restrictive in their character, and are insufficient for the existing and future demands of the people; and

WHEREAS, The rapid increase of the agricultural population throughout the State as well as in the number and wealth of our cities, and the extraordinary amount of capital invested in railroads, manufacturing and commercial enterprises all demand legislation which cannot be had under the present constitution; and

WHEREAS, The present revenue system is unfair and unequal in its operation and ought to be amended; and

WHEREAS, Our present judicial system is involved and intricate, and is not consistent with the proper dispatch of business in our courts, and should be readjusted or modified; therefore, be it

Resolved by the House of Representatives, the Senate concurring herein, That a convention is necessary to revise, alter or amend the constitution of this State, and that the question shall be submitted to the electors of this State at the next election for State Treasurer, State Superintendent of Public Instruction and members of the General Assembly, as provided for by article XIV of the present constitution.
